BURGLARS SLAY OLD MAN AND FIRE ON WIFE

Their Victim Is Struck Down, Beaten and Shot in Head.

THREE SUSPECTS ARE NOW IN BUTLER JAIL

Nothing Tangible Is Known Against Them, but Suspicion Points to Others.

CULPRITS SAW MONEY PAID TO THE VICTIM

Aged Woman Likely to Die, Not So Much from Maltreatment by Robbers, as from Grief Over Her Husband's Death.

BY J. D. IHMSEN.
Staff Correspondent.

BUTLER, PA., March 7.—Hardly had Butler county recovered from the excitement that attended the shooting and capture of the Biddle brothers when it was filled with horror at one of the most atrocious murders that has ever darkened the county annals.

Henry Smith, an aged farmer, one of the best known men in the county, was brutally slain by three burglars, who broke into the house lured by the previous visit to the Smith house of a tenant who had come to pay $20 rent. His wife, bound and gagged, saw the murder of her husband and the horror has driven her almost insane, so that only incoherent recollections of the occurrence come to her tongue.

Woman May Die of the Shock.

Only two years ago the aged couple celebrated their golden wedding, surrounded by their children and grandchildren and were congratulated by the whole countryside. Tonight the old lady's life is despaired of, not from maltreatment by the robbers, but because it is believed that when the whole realization of her dreadful loss breaks upon her the shock will kill her.

The experience was enough to unnerve the hardiest. Compelled to witness the killing of her husband from her refuge under the bed; not knowing when her own hour might come; dragged from her hiding place and tortured by murderers, she spent seven hours with the corpse, dragged it down a flight of stairs and washed the blood that seemed never to cease to flow, and in half delirium sought to call back to life the murdered man.

No Sound Reached Their Friends.

A little after 11 o'clock at night the village within earshot having just settled down to sleep, the old couple were attacked in their home. The noise of the smashing of two doors and the report of two pistol shots failed to reach the ear of any friend. Not long before scores of country people attending an elocutionary entertainment given by Miss Dickey of Pittsburgh, had walked down the railroad track, not 50 yards from the house, talking and laughing, and needing only the glimmer of a light in the couple's bedroom for an excuse to wish them goodnight.

The authorities of the county have small hope of capturing the gang that committed the murder. This evening three men supposed to answer the indefinite description given by Mrs. Smith were arrested.

Nothing to Incriminate Prisoners.

It was known that among the plunder stolen from the house was a plain gold ring, with Mrs. Smith's maiden name on the inside, and when the police heard that three men were trying to dispose of a

"JIMMY" GALVIN SUCCUMBS TO LONG ILLNESS

Peaceful End to the Career of the Once Great Pitcher.

Jimmy Galvin is dead. At 7:15 o'clock last night the Great Umpire called his last contest. This last game of the once great pitcher was the longest of his busy career. It started Thanksgiving day and the end came at his home in the rear of No. 414 Lacock street, Allegheny, and at a time when he was surrounded by his wife and family.

Galvin was taken sick Thanksgiving day with pneumonia and had been confined to his bed ever since. Then came other sicknesses, notably catarrh of the stomach, and it was this that caused his death. He lay unconscious from Sunday last.

Galvin was born in St. Louis in 1855

MAN SUSPECTED OF POSTAL THEFT IS UNDER ARREST

Ample Evidence Connects the Suspect With the Springdale Robbery Thursday Night.

PASSED A STOLEN CHECK

J. B. Ducourd, who says he lives in Allegheny, was arrested last night at the store of the Union Jewelry Company in Liberty avenue on suspicion of being one of the party who robbed the postoffice at Springdale Thursday night. Letters and other things sufficient to connect him with the theft were found on him. The detectives have suggested that he might have had something to do with the Smith robbery and murder at Saxonburg.

The arrest was made by Detectives Robert Denniston, Bernard McStay and William McElroy shortly before 10 o'clock last night. It was caused by Ducourd having passed a check taken from one of the letters stolen in the Springdale robbery.

Yesterday morning Ducourd went to the Union Jewelry Company and looked at diamond rings. He found one set in a gentleman's ring which suited him, but wanted it set in a lady's ring. The price of the ring was $100, and he produced in payment a check for $411 drawn by J. W. Elliott of Springdale. He asserted that the name on the face of the check was his and that he had received the check in payment for a lot sold to Elliott.

Check Was Cashed.

A member of the jewelry company went with him to a nearby bank to get the check cashed, but the bank refused, not knowing either party. The representative of the firm then took Ducourd to the bank with which the firm does business and the check was cashed, indorsed by the Union Jewelry Company and Ducourd received the change, $311 06. He was told to send for the ring at 6 o'clock.

Later in the day the jewelry firm became suspicious that all might not be as represented and telephoned to Elliott at Springdale regarding the alleged transaction and the check. A prompt denial was received and the matter was reported to the police. The detectives watched about the store for Ducourd to appear.

About 6 o'clock a messenger boy called with an order for the ring. He was told the ring was not ready. Between 9 and 10 o'clock last night Ducourd himself appeared. He was promptly placed under arrest.

He begged to be released and promised to give up the money he had received, with the exception of what he had spent. He had $254 of the amount left and said that an aunt in Allegheny would make up the balance.

Many Letters Found.

At the station house when searched ample evidence was found to fix the Springdale postoffice robbery on him and enough other stuff to show that he was a good one. Inside his trousers were found seven letters unopened, which had been mailed in Springdale Thursday.

Other letters had been opened. One contained a New York draft for $478 98, payable to Heidenkamp Mirror Company, Springdale, which was sent in payment of a bill for that amount. The draft was pinned to the bill. Another check for $5, drawn by John Scott of Springdale and payable to C. J. Braun, was also found on him.

A statement from Tate, Jones & Co. of this city to the Heidenkamp Mirror Company of Springdale was also found and the detectives believe there was a check attached to this also.

THE CLAIMS OF ELKIN MARKED BY MODESTY

Eight Counties, Senator Quay and Others, Only Incidents.

BY CHESTER D. POTTER.
Staff Correspondent.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., March 7.—Attorney General John P. Elkin, who came to Philadelphia this morning with the announced intention of meeting Insurance Commissioner Durham on his arrival from Florida, left at 11:05 p. m. for Pittsburgh, where he and Mrs. Elkin will remain over Sunday as guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Pew.

Senator Boies Penrose arrived from Washington at 9 o'clock tonight. He had an hour's talk with Mr. Elkin. The senator said that he did not expect the Durham party to arrive before noon tomorrow, but it was rumored that the commissioner got home early this evening and that he saw Elkin before the latter left for Pittsburgh. This report, however, could not be confirmed.

Elkin Makes a Statement.

Mr. Elkin had not made a public declaration here of his candidacy until today. It did not materially differ from that he made in Pittsburgh. He said he would have 225 delegates in the convention; that he would be nominated regardless of action taken by the Allegheny county delegation; that eight counties had elected delegates and he had all of them; that Col. Quay would not oppose him, either before or after the convention, and that he is confident of success. The bulletin reiterating Senator Flinn's withdrawal from politics did not reach here until after Elkin's departure.

No News in Stone Story.

It is stated that Gov. Stone is also out of politics, but in view of the general information on that subject it is not believed that the governor will find it necessary to issue a statement or write a postscript.

Elkin's friends say that with Stone and Flinn "benched" the prospects of "harmony" and Elkin are greatly improved. But some are skeptical. They refer to the senator's previous withdrawals, his visit to the "watch tower," etc., and assert that Flinn is "foolin'."

Elkin Had Many Callers.

Mr. Elkin had quite a number of callers today. Among others from the west were State Treasurer Barnett and Senator Budke of Washington county, ex-Representatives Seidel of Perry, Cochran of Armstrong, Miller of Bedford and Snyder of Lehigh. Col. Samuel Moody and Frank Van Dusen of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh, who were here on official business, also called on Mr. Elkin.

State Senators John C. Grady and John M. Scott were interviewed on the Flinn statement. Both assumed that it meant a harmony program in the state and a satisfactory adjustment of the factional differences in Pittsburgh.

Ministers Not to Aim for Applause.

YORK, PA., March 7.—At today's session of the Pennsylvania conference of the United Brethren church, Bishop Mills cautioned the ministry against working to receive the applause of the world, and urged that it was wrong to get people to give money by telling what others were giving. Judges of the court were arraigned for their interpretation of the liquor laws.

WEST POINT CADETS SHOW WHAT OUR SOLDIERS CAN DO

On the Parade Grounds and at the Riding School They Please Prince Henry With Manly Work.

HE LIKED FEATS OF HORSEMANSHIP

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, March 7.—Prince Henry of Prussia today completed his tour and is once more in New York, where he will remain until Monday, when he goes to Philadelphia. He was absent from the city for nine days, during which time his special train was within the territory of 12 states and logged a total distance of 4,358 miles. He was greatly pleased with his trip and tonight, through his aid, Capt. von Muller, issued a statement expressing his satisfaction at the opportunity which came to him and his gratification at the cordiality with which he was received throughout the country.

Had an Interesting Day.

His last day on the special train, which carried him to the south, west and east, rivaled in interest any of the others spent by the prince on the tour, for it began with a visit to Albany, included a run in bright sunlight down the west shore of the Hudson river, and closed with a reception at the United States Military academy at West Point. It was 2 o'clock when the special train departed from Boston and daylight when it was climbing through a range of hills that divide Massachusetts and New York.

Albany was reached at 8:30 o'clock and Mayor Gaus in behalf of the city and Gov. Odell for the state, met the prince at Union station with formal offering greetings.

Saw Empire State's Capital.

Then under cavalry escort he drove to the city hall and capitol to return the courtesy shown him. The people of the city lined the route throughout and their cheers sounded in popular welcome. He was received by the two houses of the legislature and returned his thanks to their presiding officers for the honor. He looked through the capitol and returning under guard of cavalry, infantry and police to Union station left at 10:30 o'clock for West Point. The train had been transferred to the West Shore railroad and George Daniels, general passenger agent of the New York Central railroad, who lunched with him, was the guide who showed him the historic and scenic points from the car window on the way down the river.

Reception at West Point.

West Point was reached at 2 o'clock and the prince was received with the military honor due his place in the naval service of his country. Col. Mills came to the station with a number of the officers of the academy and with a troop of cavalry drove him to the parade ground, on the heights above. As the cavalry escort showed at the brow of the inclined road Knox battery fired 21 guns.

The cadets, formed in six companies, were at once marched on the field, and the prince, with Col. Mills and their respective staffs, inspected them. Dress parade followed, with the prince as reviewing officer. The cadets in their handsome gray uniforms kept their lines perfectly, in snow that was shoe deep, and their marching won the praise of the prince and his officers.

Congratulated the Cadets.

On the second time around the cadets moved at the double quick, and once more their alignment was perfect. The prince saluted and his officers uncovered when the colors passed the reviewing stand. After the review the cadets were drawn up in close formation and the prince, advancing to the front of the first company,

Trying to Make Up Time.

The ill-fated train left San Antonio at noon Thursday, two and one-half hours late, and, at the time of the accident, was running at a high rate of speed in order to make up time. The road at the point where the wreck occurred is in a rough country, the curves being sharp and the grades heavy. It was when rounding a curve that the train left the track, it is said, on account of a broken rail.

The hour was 3 a. m., 15 hours after the train had left San Antonio, showing that it was still behind time. All the passengers were asleep and the shock that followed was the first intimation they had of the danger.

The train was going at such a rate of speed that the tender and engine landed 75 feet from where they left the rails. The cars behind piled up against the engine, caught fire and all were consumed, except the sleepers.

A private car owned by Thomas F. Ryan of New York, with his family aboard, was attached to the rear of the train, but it was pulled away before the fire reached it and no one in it was injured. Mr. Ryan is a New York capitalist, largely interested in street railway and gas companies. He has been making a tour of the southwest and is accompanied by his wife and 12-year-old son.

Injured Were Burned.

All the injured in the coaches just behind the express and baggage cars were cremated. The people in the sleepers were saved with the assistance of the uninjured passengers.

The wrecked train was the Galveston, Harrisburg and San Antonio westbound passenger, and consisted of an engine, mail car, baggage car, one coach, one chair car, three tourist sleepers, one Pullman sleeper and one private car.

The mail car, the baggage car and coaches were piled together against the engine and were ablaze in a few seconds. It was impossible to move any of the coaches or the tourist cars, as they were all off the rails and were soon consumed by the flames.

Relief Train Sent Out.

As soon as it was possible to get in communication with the division headquarters relief trains with surgeons and physicians were started from El Paso, Del Rio and Sanderson, picking up along the line all the surgeons that could be found.

All the injured who were in a condition to be moved were sent to El Paso, where they are receiving careful attention.

W. G. Van Vleck, general manager of the Galveston, Harrisburg & San Antonio railroad, was at San Antonio and left at once on a special train for the scene of the wreck.

HOUSTON, TEX., March 7.—In his report to Vice President Kruttschnitt, General Manager Van Vleck makes the following statement:

"Conductor reports speed was not fast at time of derailment and is of the opinion that the accident was due to obstruction on track."

MANY DEATHS RISKED FOR ONE SURE MURDER

Michigan Officers Believe That Man Took Desperate Means to Kill Wife.

HE DENIES THE CRIME

Accusation is That Headache Powders, Containing Poison, Were Sent to a Number of People to Throw Suspicion Elsewhere.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., March 7.—The latest developments in the investigation into the death of Mrs. Ada Klump, the young wife of William Klump of Lowell, point to one of the most cold-blooded murders Michigan has ever known. After a diligent inquiry into the circumstances of the case, Sheriff Chapman this afternoon took William Klump into custody and this evening lodged him in jail here.

The officers express the belief that Klump either sent the deadly powders through the mail himself, or knew who did send them, and that the main object was the removal of Mrs. Klump. The theory is that the doctored powders were substituted for the real headache and harmless powders.

Risked Wholesale Murder.

It is also believed that they were sent to several persons in the village for the purpose of throwing the blame upon the makers of the headache remedy and thus diverting suspicion from the sender of the poison.

A motive is found for the alleged crime in the story that Klump was infatuated with another woman, a widow, whom, it is alleged, Klump had agreed to marry before he met and won the love of the pretty 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Watson of Lowell. Klump has been married twice and his first wife also lives in Lowell. It is claimed that the other woman in the case was the cause of his separation from his first wife.

Klump Says He Is Innocent.

The sheriff and his deputies are trying to locate Hattie Whitfield. She at one time lived in this city and it is said that Klump visited her here. Officers went to the home of her parents in Vergennes township today, but did not find her there, nor could they learn where she had gone.

Klump was interviewed at the jail tonight. He is about 35 years of age. He declared he was entirely innocent of the charge on which he was arrested. He said he had no knowledge of what the alleged sample headache powders contained or from whence they came. He said that he got the envelope containing the powder addressed to his wife at the Lowell post-office with some other mail and brought it to the house, supposing it was an ordinary advertising sample. He denied the truth of the reports that he had been attentive to another woman, or that there was any reason for his wanting his wife out of the way.

WHY MISS ROOSEVELT WON'T VISIT LONDON

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 7.—It was learned tonight why Miss Alice Roosevelt's trip to Havana will take the place of her proposed visit to the coronation of King Edward in London.

It is because it has been found practically impossible for her to go simply as a young American girl, traveling privately in the household of Special Ambassador Reid.

Notwithstanding it was stated she would not go to London as daughter of the president, but simply as Miss Roosevelt, it was learned that London court officials were considering seriously the question of the status she would occupy in all coronation functions.

When Miss Roosevelt's status became a matter of international discussion the president first considered the advisability of canceling the visit, but not until it was found that an invitation to visit the emperor and empress of Germany was on the way to America was it decided, in view of the extreme youth of Miss Roosevelt and the international conditions as well as courtesies she would be called on to meet, that the English visit and all its delights would have to be relinquished.

"JIMMY" GALVIN SUCCUMBS TO LONG ILLNESS

and was married in that city in 1878. He leaves his wife and six children: James J., 23 years old; William F., 20; Mark C., 17; Walter C., 14; Joseph T., 12; and Marie R., 11.

The funeral will take place Sunday and services will be held in St. Peter's Roman Catholic church, West Ohio street, Allegheny, of which he was a member.

Caused Deep Regret.

The first notice of the serious turn Galvin's illness had taken was published in The Gazette Sunday last, and the announcement was received with the deepest regret by all baseball lovers of this city, particularly by those who had been attendants of the games in the 80's, when the then famous "little steam engine" was in his prime and was considered the peer of any baseball pitcher in the United States.

When it became evident that he was ending his days practically in poverty there was such deep regret that he got instant results. There was an opening of purse strings on the part of those that had been admirers of his athletic prowess in the past.

Thanks to their tactful generosity Galvin's closing days were made as comfortable as his weakened condition would permit.

To go into a detailed account of Galvin's life as a baseball player would be a task of time and would in the end require a volume in size almost equal to the dictionary.

Came from Kerry Patch.

Galvin was a product of the famous "Kerry Patch" of St. Louis, that has graduated into the national game some of its best exponents. He started as a pitcher in St. Louis in 1875 and 1876, and it was his brilliant work with that team that attracted the attention of the manager of the old "Alleghenies," an independent baseball team. Galvin joined that team in 1877. This was his first real start in baseball, and it was his work here that brought to him fame as a pitcher.

It was in that year that Galvin made his famous home run, a feat that will ever remain a part of the history of local baseball. This play was made May 2, 1887, in a game against the Boston team at old Recreation, then Union, park, Allegheny. The pitchers were Galvin for Allegheny and Bond for Boston. Until the eighth inning neither team had been able to get a runner across the plate and the pitching was of such a character that the hits were few and far between.

Galvin Saved the Day.

In the eighth inning, with two out, Galvin drove the ball over the middle field fence and scored the only run of the game.

That was one great achievement that Pittsburghers—or, rather, those of them who were lovers of the game in those days—never forgot. There were hundreds of other games that he won in which the spectators sat with their hearts almost in their mouths.

In those days it was work for a pitcher, and hard work at that. Clubs didn't have half a dozen or so pitchers. The team that had two pitchers was lucky, and it was a case of go in and do the pitching day after day. That was what Galvin was called on to do, and his record shows that he did it well.

It has often been said of Galvin that he was a credit to baseball, and no words were ever more truthfully spoken. A single instance will show the honorable character of the man.

In 1890 he enlisted his services with the Brotherhood team of this city, and though he was offered $8,000 in cash to desert to the National league team he spurned the offer and remained true to his fellow players.

Spent Money Lavishly.

In his palmy days he was paid big salaries, but never a cent of them was saved. He was too open-hearted for that, and he was never known to let an appeal for aid go unheeded.

In 1878 Galvin went to Buffalo, and he remained with the team in that city until the summer of 1884, when his release was purchased from the Buffalo club and he was brought back here to the field of his early honors. In the following nine years that he remained here as a pitcher he added two-fold to his reputation.

It was in the summer of 1893 that Galvin was released by the Pittsburgh club and joined the St. Louis team. In 1894 he tried it again, securing a position with the Buffalo team of the Eastern league, but one trial convinced him that his pitching days were over, and he retired from the game and tried his hand at umpiring, but did not prove successful.

Some time before he opened a saloon in Sixth street, and it looked as though he had found a sure road to prosperity, but Galvin was not a man of business.

Became a Bartender.

After this he became a foreman for Contractor McKnight, but gave that up to become a bartender, which occupation he followed until overtaken by his last sickness.

Few ball players could boast of as many friends as Galvin. He was known all over the country and respected as one of the men who was a credit to his profession. An illustration of his wide range of friends was shown in 1889, when the Spalding tourists were about to make their famous trip around the world.

They started from Washington, and on the day of their departure called on and were received by President Cleveland. After the players had been introduced to the president the latter looked them over and then asked: "Where is my old friend Jimmy Galvin?" It seems that President Cleveland and Galvin had been warm friends when Grover was sheriff and mayor of Buffalo.

The Man Who Freedman Fights Shows His Appreciation of Jimmy Galvin.

Previous to Galvin's death yesterday the sporting editor of The Gazette wired A. G. Spalding, who is at San Diego, Cal., of the old pitcher's precarious condition, and the reply received late last night was as follows:

San Diego, Cal., March 7.—To James Nellis, sporting editor Pittsburgh Gazette, Pittsburgh, Pa.: Regret Galvin's condition; he was a great pitcher in his day, a unique personality and popular everywhere. Have wired A. G. Pratt to pay Galvin's family $100 on my personal account.

BURGLARS SLAY OLD FARMER, BIND HIS WIFE

ring in Butler officers were sent out to arrest them. They were committed to jail as suspicious persons, but the ring, so far as known, did not belong to the Smiths.

No money was found on the prisoners, but as one wore a cap and the others wore soft hats, as described by Mrs. Smith, they will be held for further examination.

The house occupied by the Smiths lies a quarter of a mile east of Saxonburg, a township settlement 14 miles below Butler. Most of the residents of the neighborhood already have definitely settled in their minds the identity of the perpetrators of the crime.

How the Alarm Was Spread.

It was 7:30 o'clock this morning when L. H. Faulkner, the village blacksmith and implement dealer, heard a shout in front of his shop, across the railroad from his house, and looking out of the window of the house he saw his son waving his hand to him and heard him call. Faulkner ran over to the shop, and Mrs. Smith, her hair dishevelled, her face a picture of despair, tottered toward him. She could not articulate plainly, but when Faulkner asked her quietly what was amiss she managed to stammer in German: "Drei spitzbuben waren in haus letzte nacht." (Three rascals were in the house last night).

"What did they do?" asked Faulkner.

"I believe they have killed Henry," said Mrs. Smith, recovering the use of English, of which she has a good command.

Faulkner told his son to take Mrs. Smith into the house, and calling to Henry Laudensinger, a farmer, who was standing on the hill, he asked him to go over to Smith's.

Met at the Farmhouse.

Laudensinger ran along the hillside and Faulkner took down the railroad track. They met in front of Smith's. They saw that the front door of the house was smashed in, the whole lower panels of the double door being out.

Running around to the side door of the kitchen, Faulkner sprang into the house. The door of the kitchen also was broken in. Lying on his face in a pool of blood was old Mr. Smith. Faulkner stooped down, felt his pulse and saw that he was dead. Leaving Laudenslager in the house he ran to the telegraph office, a quarter of a mile away, and telegraphed to the sheriff at Butler and the chief of police of Pittsburgh.

Laudenslager examined the body more closely. There were several bruiser on the old man's head, evidently made by a blunt weapon, and a bullet hole was in the very top of the skull. He was clothed in shoes, drawers and a knit blouse. Blood had flown all over the kitchen floor.

Tried to Elicit Woman's Story.

Meanwhile Mrs. Smith had been taken from Faulkner's to Edward Frank's house, a short distance away. There, in order to aid justice to overtake the murderers, an effort was made to get Mrs. Smith to tell the story of the harrowing night. She was almost insane, now calling for her husband and asking if he were still alive, again begging imaginary persons to spare his life and hers. It was not until late in the morning, about the time the authorities arrived from Butler, that a partial story of the murder was obtained, pieced together from incoherent remarks of the old lady.

Mrs. Smith is unable to give a description of the men. She does not know whether they had smooth faces or wore whiskers. One of the men she said had a handkerchief tied over his forehead.

Shortly after 11 o'clock Mrs. Smith was awakened by the crash of glass in the window behind the cot, some of the glass falling upon her face. The glass was broken by a ladder which the burglars had placed against the window and which had slipped from their grasp.

Broke in the Doors.

Mrs. Smith called out to her husband, who got out of bed and was putting on his shoes when the doors to the kitchen and to the parlor were broken in with a crash. Two men had broken in the door leading to the parlor, and they rushed into Mrs. Smith's room from the parlor, while the other man ran up the stairs leading from the kitchen to the bedroom. The men seized Mrs. Smith, who had got out of the bed, bound her hands and feet with a piece of clothesline they had found in the kitchen, and gagged her with a wad of rags.

She heard the old man coming downstairs, and presently he appeared in the room, which was dark. In the darkness she could see the men strike her husband, apparently with their fists; heard them demanding his money, and at last saw him fall to the ground. Just before he fell she threw herself in terror from the cot and crept under the bed. One of the men saw her, apparently, for he said:

Forgot Details of the Murder.

In her stories of the robbery and murder, Mrs. Smith says nothing about the firing of a shot. In fact, when asked about it she shakes her head and says: "Ich weiss nicht" ("I don't know.") She says nothing as to any outcries by her husband. Indeed, it seems as if a merciful veil of forgetfulness has been thrown around the actual murder of her husband.

Suddenly, she said, one of the men lighted a lamp which stood on the bureau, but which was rarely used, as the Smiths used natural gas produced by a well on the farm. He went to a cupboard, and the old lady, fearful of the lamp among the clothing hanging up, cried out, "Don't burn down the house." Her husband lay on the floor, but it appears she did not then notice that he was wounded.

While the men were searching Mrs. Smith, one of them asked her what had became of the $12 her husband had received for some logs he had sold a few days before. This remark is believed by some to indicate that the burglars were men living in the neighborhood. The Smith's had sold a little timber.

The two other men caught her by the feet, dragged her from underneath the bed, and taking the gag out of her mouth and untying her arms and legs asked her where the money was.

"I have only $20," she pleaded.

Found Money in Her Stocking.

"Where's that money Reinhold gave you tonight?" they asked.

"That's the $20," she replied.

"She must have more," said one, with an oath. "Tear her clothes off, fellows, and let's see."

Mrs. Smith was clothed in her night dress and stockings. The men tore off her stockings and found the $20 bill which the tenant, Reinhold, had brought early in the evening. Cursing her for a miser the three men hurriedly pulled out drawers from bureaus, tore the mattresses apart and ravaged all through the house, destroying the bedding in the attic. They stole the couple's wedding ring, which the old lady had on her finger, and before they left they got about $200 in cash. Among the money were two $20 bills, two $20 gold pieces, a $10 gold piece and a $5 gold piece, which Mrs. Smith had preserved during the 57 years of her married life.

Parting Threat to Mrs. Smith.

Before taking their departure they made a final visit to the room where the couple were. Glancing around they saw the old man doubled up on the floor. One of them lifted up his head, straightened his body out and kicked a pillow under his head.

"Now," said the spokesman, turning to Mrs. Smith, who lay on the floor, "you keep quiet. We'll be around here a while and if you make any noise we'll come back and kill you."

Then blowing out the lamp they went downstairs and out. Mrs. Smith struggled to her feet. When she heard them outside she put her head out of the window. One of them ordered her back from the window and fired a shot at her. The bullet went through the shutter which lay back against the wall.

Dragged the Corpse Downstairs.

Mrs. Smith then turned to her husband. Thinking he was only wounded, and that water was needed, she dragged him to the head of the stairs and with superhuman efforts and after many weary minutes she got him down to the kitchen, alternately, as far as could be gathered from her story, lifting the feet and head and sliding the body. There for hours she tried to arouse the vital spark that had fled and until daylight she sat on the floor bathing her husband's face and temples. When daylight broke she staggered to Faulkner's house.

Besides the bullet wound in Mr. Smith's head there are six bruises made by a bludgeon on the face and head and the right eye is crushed in. The wounds made by the club were sufficient to cause death, considering the age (81) of the old man. Mrs. Smith herself was not seriously hurt, though there were bruises and scratches on her body.

Search for the Murderers.

About 10 o'clock Deputy Sheriff Rainey Hoon and County Detective James McFarland left Butler for Saxonburg. They talked to Mrs. Smith, examined the premises and after hearing of the suspicions expressed by the neighbors as to the probable perpetrators of the crime, they returned to Butler without making any arrests, there being no evidence to hold anybody.

The arrest of the three suspicious persons here was made at 5 p. m. The men gave their names as Selden Martin of Bradford and Joseph Slecker and John Kraus of St. Marys, Elk county. They were brought before Justice of the Peace Jacob Keck. They refused to talk, except to say that they wanted an early hearing. They were committed to jail for a hearing next Tuesday.

All efforts to find the weight. Martin is heavy-set and muscular, Slecker is slim and stooped and Krouse is the smallest of the three. Krouse and Martin wore soft slouch hats and Slecker a cap.

Answered the Descriptions.

In all these points they correspond with the appearances of the murderers as described by Mrs. Smith, and of the men seen in the vicinity of Carbon Black the evening before the murder.

The suspects were first seen in Butler on East Jefferson street, near the West Penn station. It is thought they rode to this city on a freight train and alighted when near town. They were seen walking into town on the railroad tracks. When the three reached the corner of McKean and Jefferson streets they separated and Krouse and Slecker walked ahead, while Martin loitered behind.

Near Philip Smith's cigar store Martin approached Gilbert Straup, said he was hunting work and was without money and would like to raise a little on a fine gold ring, which he pulled from his pocket. Straup went into Smith's store to tell his brother-in-law, Elmer Smith, who came out to buy the ring, but Martin had disappeared.

Their Manner Suspicious.

Straup was struck by the resemblance of the three men to the description given of the murderers of Henry Smith, and walked down Jefferson street to an alley, where he found Krouse and Slecker looking at some theater bills. They appeared uneasy and asked him several questions about how many and what kind of police officers Butler had.

A few minutes later Straup saw Martin signaling and heard him whistling to his two companions from the opposite side of the street. All three of them went away and disappeared in an alley.

Straup and Charles Lefevre, who also heard the questions of the pair, were now thoroughly aroused. They at once informed Constable William P. Brown, Constable Jesse Donaldson and Policeman Robert Ray were also informed, and the officers, with Straup and Lefevre, traced the men to the Bessemer hotel in Center avenue. At the hotel the three suspects had washed themselves and engaged lodgings.

Information Filed Against Them.

They were taken before Justice of the Peace Jacob Keck, where Brown made an information against them as suspicious persons and asked that they be held pending an investigation of the Smith murder. They were searched. No weapons were found. An old black pocketbook found on Slecker contained a little money. They are now in jail.

The inquest into the murder was begun today at Saxonburg. Justice of the Peace J. W. Pugh impanelled a jury, consisting of James Logan, J. M. Smith, Edward Frank, Harry Rambaugh, L. H. Faulkner and Charles Keppell.

Dr. Jacob Smith held a post-mortem examination. The bruised wounds on the head were found to be as already described. The bullet, a 32-caliber one, had entered the head at the top about the right temple and lodged behind the left ear. The inquest was begun, but as Mrs. Smith is the only witness to be called, and she was not in condition to be questioned, it was adjourned. It will not be resumed until she is able to talk coherently.

W. A. Smith of Allegheny, son of the victim, arrived at Saxonburg this evening with his wife, Mrs. Heege, the daughter, also of Allegheny, having arrived earlier. Two grandchildren, Charles H. and Henry A. Smith, came to Saxonburg early this afternoon. The family probably will offer a reward for the capture of the murderers. W. A. Smith said today he could not tell the exact amount to be offered until after conferring with the other members of the family. Probably not less than $500 will be put up. The murdered father will be buried in the cemetery at Saxonburg Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Smith will be taken to the home of Mrs. Heege as soon as she can be moved.

The Smith farm consists of 200 acres of land, worth on an average of $50 an acre. Some of it is good farming land. There is a gas well on the land, the product of which is sold to a gas company at a rental of $250 a year. The couple have worked all their lives on their farm and lived very frugally. About 10 years ago they concluded the old farmhouse was too large, and they built the frame house near the railroad, rooming the farmhouse.

Old Mr. Smith's neighbors say he prided himself on his modest way of living. He often said he and his wife had cleared $40,000 by hard work.

THEIR THREE CHILDREN LIVE NEAR PITTSBURGH

Two Sons in the Woodenware Business in Seventh Avenue—Daughter in Allegheny.

The three children of the victim of the Butler county murder live in the immediate vicinity of Pittsburgh. They are L. H. Smith of 1247 Locust street, Allegheny; William A. Smith, Swissvale, and Mrs. M. C. Heege, a widow, who lives at 142 Spring Garden avenue, Allegheny. L. H. and W. A. Smith are members of the L. H. Smith Wooden Ware Company, 422 Seventh avenue, this city.

A telegram was received at the offices of the company this morning from Lewis H. Faulkner to W. A. Smith notifying him of the crime upon his parents. Charles Smith, a nephew of the aged couple, left on the 10:45 train for Saxonburg, and William Smith left at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The other son, L. H., is traveling in New Mexico, where he has been for some time and efforts to reach him by wire to tell him of the murder of his father were fruitless, as his present address is not known.

W. A. Smith could hardly believe the tale of the murder. He was greatly affected and said that he would make every endeavor to have the assassins brought to justice. Said he:

"At first I thought that tramps had attacked the house in an attempt to get hold of anything available about the old homestead, but now I am of the opinion that the three were men who knew the ways and habits of father and mother. Father lived on the old farm near Saxonburg for about 70 years, having come from Germany when 11 years old, and settled down in Butler county.

"He was born in Marksleben, Germany, Nov. 9, 1821. After coming to this country he attended the schools near Butler and engaged in farming, which occupation he had followed all his life. He and mother lived on the farm containing about 200 acres, which they owned. The old homestead is situated on one corner of the farm, while another house, occupied by a man and his wife who work the farm for father, is the only other one on the place. Father retired some years ago from active work and had his men look after everything.

"The only money they ever kept on the place was that received from the rent of the house, which was but little, and I hardly believe they had any such sum as $200 in the house. We always looked after their banking affairs in Pittsburgh, where they kept their money.

"We generally visited home about once a month, and it was just a month ago that I spent some time with my parents."

Died from Injuries.

Charles Lind died at the county home yesterday morning from injuries received in McKeesport a week ago. Lind was 55 years of age and a blacksmith. In a fight he is said to have been cut on the head with a hatchet. The police are looking for a man who is reported to have had the hatchet.

will be continued today. Lots of good bargains in China, Wash Goods, Flannels and Bedclothes.

There is very little of the half priced House-Furnishings left. But instead, there is plenty of the underpriced Enameled Ware. It had the biggest kind of a sale yesterday. Seems as though women had been waiting for the announcement. Best culinary ware made, and worth coming ever so far to get some of it. Here are the prices:

FLINN ISSUES SECOND NOTICE OF WITHDRAWAL

Like His Former Announcement, It Followed a Bitter Defeat.

BUSINESS CARES HIS PLEA

Resignations Tendered to President of the Senate J. P. S. Gobin, City Chairman J. O. Brown and County Chairman A. C. Robertson.

Senator William Flinn has again retired from politics. This time he makes the announcement in a type-written statement, furnished last night to representatives of the press. As in his first announcement Senator Flinn says that his action is compelled by the growth of his business interests.

Senator Flinn's statement announcing his retirement is as follows:

"My Sharon Steel Company, natural gas, oil, real estate, banking and contracting interests have grown so large that I must devote my entire time to my business. I have resigned my seat in the state senate, my membership in the Republican city and county campaign committees, and hereafter I shall occupy the position of contributor and voter in the interest of the Republican party and its principles. My close friends and acquaintances know how closely I am pressed by my business interests, and I feel that I can now sever my connection with politics without sacrifice to those who in the past have been my friends."

His Former Statement.

At the adjournment of the last legislature Senator Flinn issued a similar statement to the public, declaring that he was out of politics for good and that he could not be induced to return.

To make this statement convincing Senator Flinn resigned the chairmanship of the Republican city committee shortly afterward and J. O. Brown was elected to succeed him.

Notwithstanding this public declaration Senator Flinn was actively engaged in the management of the state campaign in the fall for the local organization and during the subsequent events which culminated in the removal of Major A. M. Brown and the succession of J. O. Brown as city recorder Senator Flinn was a leading spirit.

Retires After Defeats.

Senator Flinn's first retirement followed his defeat in the fight over the "ripper" bill. His second retirement follows his defeat in the recent fight for control of councils and the city controllership.

This time, to convince the doubting voters of Pittsburgh and Allegheny county that he is actually out of politics and that this is positively his last exit from the political stage, Senator Flinn sends a letter to Lieut. Gov. J. P. S. Gobin, president of the state senate, tendering his resignation as senator from the Forty-fourth senatorial district.

He does not stop there. He also sends communications to J. O. Brown, chairman of the city committee, and to A. C. Robertson, chairman of county committee, resigning as member of both committees.

The title of leader of the Sixth avenue organization is conferred upon Recorder J. O. Brown but Senator Flinn does not state that unlimited powers are delegated to the recorder-chairman or that Senator Flinn must not be consulted as to the future policy and course of the old "organization."

Senator Flinn's letters resigning from the senate, county and city committees, bear the date of yesterday, and are as follows:

The Letter to Gobin.

"The Hon. J. P. S. Gobin, president of the senate of Pennsylvania, Harrisburg, Pa.

"My Dear Sir—I hereby tender my resignation as senator from the Forty-fourth Senatorial district, to take effect at once. Yours very truly,

"WILLIAM FLINN."

"The Hon. J. O. Brown, chairman Republican City committee, city.

"Dear Sir—I hereby tender you my resignation as a member of the Republican City Executive committee from the Nineteenth ward. Yours respectfully,

"WILLIAM FLINN."

"A. C. Robertson, Esq., chairman Republican County committee, city.

"Dear Sir—I hereby tender you my resignation as a member of the Republican County and Campaign committee. Yours respectfully,

"WILLIAM FLINN."

Fulton's Sharp Comment.

"Flinn is only doing this for effect," said ex-Mayor Andrew Fulton last night. "If he wants to prove that he is out of politics and is sincere let him take down his candidates for county offices and make it an open contest in the primaries. If Flinn and Brown want to be fair let them give other candidates representation on the primary boards," he added.

Maj. A. M. Brown, former recorder of Pittsburgh, commented on Senator Flinn's retirement as follows:

"It's a good thing. The legislature is better off. Senator Flinn has evidently discovered what others in Pittsburgh knew a long time ago, that the people do not want his one-man rule. His retirement does not surprise me after the result of the election on February 18. It is just as well that Senator Flinn has promptly recognized the inevitable and has quit politics before the people had another chance and finished the job."

Brown's Fulsome Eulogy.

The comment of Recorder-Chairman J. O. Brown was a fulsome eulogy upon Senator Flinn. He said:

I greatly regret the absolute and unqualified withdrawal of Senator Flinn from all political organizations. His resignation as state senator, as a city committeeman and member of the campaign committee in the county must be taken as a positive declaration that he intends to devote his time to his large and various business interests, which have grown under his energetic management to gigantic proportions.

This withdrawal was practically taken by Senator Flinn at the time that I was elected chairman of the city committee in a public statement at a meeting of said committee held in common council chamber. His remaining through the subsequent campaign of last November, with its magnificent Republican majority for the regular Republican organization, and his labor in the campaign just passed, was largely influenced by my personal solicitation for his help and energy, which is of a character possessed by few men, and therefore of high value to the political organization.

Record as a Senator.

And, as state senator, perhaps no man from Allegheny county ever achieved so much for the good of the city of Pittsburgh, both of a political and financial character. His street legislation saved the city of Pittsburgh millions of dollars; his road bill, known throughout Allegheny county as the "Flinn road law," is bringing about magnificent roads in all sections of this great county, and must in the end result in highways of a character that will be of great benefit to the county of Allegheny, and is of itself a great monument to Senator Flinn's energy on behalf of the people of Allegheny county.

His also labored unremittingly for a personal registration law, which must ultimately bring about clean, pure and desirable elections.

The service to a public capacity has covered a period of 20 years and more, and, in my judgment, it will be many a day before so flexible and energetic a senator will again stand up for Pittsburgh and Allegheny county interests at the state capital.

His business interests and his health are, however, his own property, and as city chairman I must accept, philosophically, this final and absolute withdrawal. And yet I note with pride that in his letter of declination he says he will ever be a supporter of the Republican party, which means a supporter of prosperity, protection and advancement of all the material interests of our city.

Lost Babies Discovered---Students Taken Back.

ODD NEW CASTLE TALE

Mother Lost Mind and Children Last September in Massachusetts.

NEW CASTLE, PA., March 7.—(Special.)—George Yaucha of this city has found his two babies who were deserted in Crompton park, Worcester, Mass., last summer by their insane mother. Yaucha is an Austrian. He works in the National Steel mill in this city, is a man of property, and highly respected, the father of three children. His wife is subject to fits of insanity. Last summer she left New Castle on a visit to friends in Philadelphia. In September she returned home, bringing with her their youngest child, the baby.

The woman knew absolutely nothing about the other children, did not even remember that she had ever had any others than the one she carried at her breast. It was weeks before she was able to realize that two of her children had been lost.

The father was almost distracted. He went to Philadelphia and enlisted the efforts of the police there, but without avail. He has spent hundreds of dollars in the search during the months that have intervened since his wife's return home.

Michael Hannon, a real estate dealer here, recently took an interest in the case. He had circulars prepared and sent to police authorities all over the country. One of these went to Worcester and the police there informed Hannon that on September 6 last, two little ones were found in Crompton park, in that city, hungry, tired and crying because they had lost their mamma. They were taken to police headquarters and after a few days sent to an orphan asylum. The mother is unable to explain how she got to Worcester or throw any light at all on the remarkable case.

ELKIN'S LITTLE AD.

Apologizes to a Political Club for Not Being a Guest Before He Became a Candidate.

HARRISBURG, PA., March 7.—(Special.)—Attorney General Elkin is issuing as a campaign document little printed brochures containing the address he delivered last Saturday at the annual celebration of the Washington Republican club at South Bethlehem. In his introduction Elkin naively says he has often been invited to address the club in years gone by, but that he never has been able to find the time to do so until this year, when he is an active aspirant for gubernatorial honors.

Gov. Stone probably will issue a proclamation on his return from New York next Monday for a special election in the Sixteenth congressional district to fill the vacancy created by the death of Congressman Rufus K. Polk, Democrat, of Montour county. Mr. Polk's district was the Seventeenth under the old apportionment. The apportionment made by the last legislature changed its number to the Sixteenth, but made no change in its formation. As the new apportionment went into effect on July 11, 1901, there is much interest here to see whether Stone will order an election for the Seventeenth or Sixteenth district.

SMALLPOX AT NEW CASTLE.

Thirteenth Victim Is a Barber and Situation Is Becoming Serious.

NEW CASTLE, PA., March 7.—(Special.)—Excitement over the smallpox epidemic here continues to increase. Another case was discovered this morning. George E. Allison, a barber, who has been shaving customers regularly up to and including yesterday, was taken ill last night. He is quarantined at his home. The shop was closed and disinfected. This makes the 13th case of smallpox.

Florence Williams, a white woman, who has been boarding with a colored family, is a smallpox victim, who is giving the health authorities great concern. The colored family yesterday carried her bed into the street. Chief of Police Horner forced them to take her back into the house, and threatens to arrest the inmates if they again attempt to take the sick woman from their house. However, the police say they would not know what to do with the colored people if they were arrested, as neither the city prison or county jail could be used for their detention.

Mayor Charles L. Warnock today served notice upon Health Officer Vance and the health committee of council, that in case council at its meeting Monday evening does not take action he will secure a building in which victims of smallpox can be cared for properly.

ANTHRACITE DISPUTES.

Strike of 1,000 Men Ended, But Other Troubles Are in Sight.

SHAMOKIN, PA., March 7.—The strike of 1,000 employes at Natalie colliery ended today in the miners being paid off and the company guaranteeing to hereafter disburse semi-monthly wages regularly.

United Mine Workers deny that President Mitchell had a conference with J. Pierpont Morgan and Senator Hanna last Tuesday, and that Mitchell agreed to a continuance of the scale now in force. The miners will vote on that in convention week after next, and also decide whether to insist on the eight-hour work day at 10 hours' pay and for recognition of the union.

KIDNAPING AT GREENSBURG.

Six-Year-Old Boy Was Mysteriously Spirited Away Last Monday.

GREENSBURG, PA., March 7.—(Special.)—The continued absence of John Light, 6-year-old son of Joseph Light, has driven the father and mother almost to despair. A rumor reached here yesterday that the boy had been seen in Irwin and another that the lad was in Pittsburgh. This afternoon Light offered a reward of $1,000. He believes the boy is in the keeping of someone in Pittsburgh.

The boy, who disappeared last Monday morning, would be easily identified. He wore a light hat, is small for his age and has two scars on the right side of his scalp.

WOMEN ARE GOING TO VOTE.

Steubenville Has a Hot Fight on Over Superintendent of Schools.

STEUBENVILLE, O., March 7.—(Special.)—What has been one of the hottest campaigns in the history of this town will be decided at the primary election tomorrow afternoon. The fight is over the election of members of the school board who are for or against Arthur Powell, the present superintendent. Against him are arrayed most of the school teachers. Hundreds of women who have been meeting secretly and organizing the anti-Powell movement will vote. It will be the first election for years at which women have voted.

Shooting May Result Fatally.

NEW CASTLE, PA., March 7.—(Special.)—A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Alex Locio, an Italian quarryman, who opened fire on a party of fellow countrymen as they were walking along the street at Hillsville, this county. Peter Ferandro received a ball in the stomach and is in a critical condition. The wounded man had no quarrel with Locio, who intended to shoot his companion, but missed his aim. The assassin at once left and no trace of him has been found.

LIVES OF CORRY WOMEN MENACED

Letters Sent Through Mails Demanding Money in Lieu of Dire Endings.

CORRY, PA., March 7.—(Special.)—This city is greatly excited over the discovery that the lives of two women have been threatened. For three days Mrs. Austin Perkins has been in daily receipt of anonymous communications demanding $150 and appointing a place to secrete it.

Should Mrs. Perkins fail to give up the money, the letter stater, she would be shot the first time she appeared on the streets, and all her property would be burned. Officers have a clue and on the arrival of the postoffice inspector an arrest is looked for.

Mrs. Fred Johnson received a similar letter, which demanded $200, otherwise her throat would be cut from ear to ear. An officer impersonated one of the women at the specified meeting place, but to no purpose. All the communications bore the stamp of the Corry postoffice and are written in lead pencil.

FAVOR SHORT SPELLING.

School Superintendents in Session at Johnstown Elect Officers and Make Recommendations.

JOHNSTOWN, PA., March 7.—(Special.)—The twelfth annual convention of city and borough school superintendents came to a close this afternoon. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, N. P. Kinsley, Franklin; vice president, J. M. Berkey, Johnstown; secretary, Kimber Kleaver, Huntingdon; treasurer, John C. Kendall, Homestead; executive committee, L. O. Foose, Harrisburg; R. K. Buehrle, Lancaster; L. E. McGines, Steelton. A resolution concerning the spelling of words was adopted as follows:

"Resolved, that the amended spelling of the 12 words, program, tho, altho, thoro, thorofare, thru, thruout, catalog, prolog, commended to the members of this body."

Resolutions were also adopted recommending the devotion of more time and attention to art, to the environments of the children in school and the introduction of manual training and domestic science in all public schools of the state.

BRYAN AS A PROPHET.

Tells What Ought to Be, But Not What Will Be.

SCRANTON, PA., March 7.—William Jennings Bryan, who lectured here tonight, when asked who he considered a Democratic presidential possibility, said: "It ought to be safe to predict that Democratic principles will be applied to the issues and it ought to be that the platform should be written by those whose fidelity to those principles is not subject to suspicion."

Aiding Their Own Development.

MORGANTOWN, W. VA., March 7.—(Special.)—This district today sold to the Morgantown & Kingwood Railroad Company $45,000 worth of bonds voted by it to assist in building the railroad, for $34,000, and secured itself by a first mortgage on the road.

STATE AND NEIGHBORHOOD.

PHILIPPI, W. VA.—Thomas Hale, aged 25, a school teacher, was struck and killed by a train near here.

LEBANON, PA.—Harry McMullen, aged 16, was killed while returning home from his first day's work, by being struck by a train.

JOHNSTOWN, PA.—Cornelius, aged 12, son of Peter Morris, fell from a Pennsylvania railroad train today. His head, legs and arms were cut off.

BUTLER, PA.—The 23 employing painters of Butler have signed a scale raising painters' wages from 20 to 25 cents an hour and reducing the working day from 10 hours to nine.

BIG RUN, PA.—Great indignation prevails towards Jonas Smith, who came to his home with a well-developed case of smallpox, and exposed at least half the residents of the town.

YOUNGSTOWN, O.—Over 100 cases of measles have been reported to the board of health, and a large percentage of school children are kept home by reason of the epidemic.

SHARON, PA.—Alfred Curtis of Transfer, near here, will probably lose the sight of both eyes as the result of smoking a cigar loaded with powder, which was given him by some prankish companions.

CHAMBERSBURG, PA.—The large baking establishment of Forney & Zeigler burned to the ground, there being no water in the two reservoirs by reason of a 60-foot break in the Siloam dam, from which the water is pumped.

AKRON, O.—Fire did $50,000 damage in the Apollo block at Cuyahoga Falls. The flames started on the stage of the theater which occupied the third floor, and while they were extinguished without doing much damage, the block was flooded with water.

WASHINGTON, PA.—The Washington Builders' exchange has decided to advance wages 15 per cent and require only nine hours work for a day. The labor unions have given notice that on May 1 they will demand an 8-hour day and a wage advance.

SCRANTON, PA.—Anthracite coal operators have notified the United Mine Workers that they will not meet in conference on March 18. The holding of this conference is looked upon by many as the only possible way of averting a strike this spring.

YORK, PA.—The York Silk Manufacturing Company, with a capital of $1,800,000, has been organized. It includes the mills of the Pennsylvania Silk Company, Fleetwood; Carlisle Silk Company, Carlisle, Pa.; York Silk Company, and Diamond Silk Company, of York.

SHENANDOAH, PA.—Buildings containing five stores and tenements were destroyed by fire. Loss, $20,000. The occupants were: Western Union Telegraph Company; H. Rosenthal, upholsterer; H. W. Lauchman, clothing; Harold Sazulok, saloon; George Fain, shoes.

YOUNGSTOWN, O.—Relatives of Peter Mathay, a molder of Greenville, who was found unconscious near the home of a farmer at Hubbard, and who died shortly after, are investigating the cause of his death. There is strong evidence that he was robbed and other suspicious features.

MONONGAHELA, PA.—Ned Pitts, colored, who was placed under arrest by Chief of Police Sarver for having refused to assist him in making an arrest, turned the tables on the officer when they reached the lockup by picking Sarver up and locking him in a cell. He then took the officer's mace to Mayor Neil and then went away.

CUMBERLAND, MD.—About 35 of 90 active bers of the Endeavor society of St. Paul's Lutheran church have intensified a church squabble by meeting at the home of the pastor, the Rev. Thomas J. Yost, and voting to secede the society from the church. A newly-appointed treasurer has taken the society's funds, $166, from a bank, and it is said arrests will follow, as some time ago part of the money had been voted for the bonded debt of the church. The Rev. Mr. Yost's son William, under arrest on a charge of stealing the church records, is president of the society.

SUSPENDED STUDENTS ARE REINSTATED AT OLD W. & J.

HAD TO SETTLE DAMAGES

WASHINGTON, PA., March 7.—(Special.)—Walter B. Anderson of Rochester, Pa.; James A. Dickson of Martins Ferry, O.; Arthur W. Hopper of Canonsburg, Earl C. McElroy of Washington, Maurice Ritchie of Chambersburg and Oscar J. Shaffer of New Castle, members of the freshman class at Washington and Jefferson college, who were suspended last week for taking part in a painting escapade, were today reinstated.

In addition to suffering suspension the students were required to pay all damages sustained by property owners. The damages amount to considerable. The faculty was informed last night that all damages had been made good.

Duffield K. Duncan of Duluth who was also suspended, will not be allowed to return for reasons which the faculty refuse to divulge.

BURIAL OF MINE VICTIMS.

Secret Societies Will Have Charge of Funerals Today and Tomorrow of Catsburg's Dead.

MONONGAHELA, March 7.—(Special.)—Arrangements have been completed for the funerals of the five victims of Thursday's disaster at the Catsburg mine. William McFarland will be buried here Saturday at 3 o'clock by Monongahela lodge No. 327, I. O. O. F. The Hoeys will be buried at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon by the Knights of Pythias. Isaac Eastwood will be buried Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock by the Sons of St. George and Red Men, and John Gelder will be buried by Brownsville lodge of Odd Fellows at Charleroi Saturday afternoon.

Coroner John Fitzpatrick has arranged to hold an inquest on Thursday, March 13, at 1 p. m. There are many opinions as to how the disaster occurred, but no one can tell absolutely. The mine owners contend that the mine was practically safe for the work which the dead men were sent to do, and that the company is not to blame.

Supt. Seddon is still suffering intensely from the gas inhaled during his efforts to rescue the men. The two injured men are at their homes. Hagger is not nearly so seriously injured as Terneat, whose condition is such as to cause great anxiety as to his recovery.

ENOCH ARDEN TALE.

This Time the Man Found the Woman Widow of Another and Mother of Four Children.

NEW CASTLE, PA., March 7.—(Special.)—John Matson arrived in New Castle last week in search of his wife, whom he left five years ago to await his return from the west, where he went to prove up a claim. When he found her he found her the widow of another man, with four children by No. 2. She ran from No. 1 and he has not yet succeeded in having a talk with her.

Watson forgot his marital duties when he went west and did not correspond with his wife. She heard he was dead and at Findlay, O., where they had lived, married August Sonnet, a glassblower, and moved to this city. Sonnet died but a short time ago, leaving her with four small children and a daughter about 15 years old by Watson.

Watson is willing to call it all off and start over again. He wants to remarry the woman if that form is necessary, and will remain here until he secures an interview with her. He says he was in hard luck for several years, which accounted for his silence.

ACTED TOO SOON.

Beaver Falls Girls Engaged as Canvassers Caused Arrest of Woman Who Hired Them.

BEAVER FALLS, PA., March 7.—(Special.)—Last week a Mrs. G. C. Proudfet came here and engaged 15 or 20 young women to canvass for the sale of books for the American Publishing House of Chicago. They were to get $1 50 per day. Each paid $3 for an outfit. The girls worked two days. In the meantime the woman left town, taking the outfits.

Minnie Reinsbacher, Celia Rowley, Annie Dunlap and Clara Kelly, four of the girls, then charged her with fraud before Justice Piper. The woman was traced to New Castle, arrested there and brought back last night. This evening she was discharged, showing a contract to the effect that the firm was to send them outfits and pay them their wages next week. The trouble was the girls did not wait.

Plot to Kill a Foreman.

YORK, PA., March 7.—What is thought was a plot to kill a foreman in the Pennsylvania Agricultural Works was discovered this morning. Workmen preparing to make a 600-ton casting found nine large rifle cartridges concealed in various parts of the flask. Two were placed in line with the position where the foreman would stand. There has been a strike at the mill since last summer and feeling against non-union molders is bitter.

Gold at Stake in This Case.

PEKIN, March 7.—Bandit soldiery have captured a priest at Pehol, about 100 miles northeast of Pekin. Both the French and Russians are anxious to send troops to rescue this priest, but as Jehol is a rich gold mining district, the court has ordered Gen. Mai Uk Wan to hurry and release the prisoner in order to forestall the entry of foreign troops.

SEVERE MEASURES AGAINST IRISHMEN

Cabinet Meeting Is Expected to "Proclaim" the United Irish League.

IRISH LEADERS REJOICE

LONDON, March 8.—The cabinet council called for yesterday has been postponed till next Tuesday owing to the continued illness of A. J. Balfour, first lord of the treasury, and the absence in Ireland of Earl Cadogan, lord lieutenant of Ireland.

It appears to be generally expected that the United Irish league will be "proclaimed," although George Wyndham, chief secretary for Ireland, is averse to such a strong measure. Mr. Wyndham, however, is not in the cabinet and his opinion is likely to be overruled.

Irish leaders declare they will welcome such a move, which would result, they say, in a revolution in the south of Ireland.

TWO LIVES WERE LOST.

Further Details of Collision Between Harmonides and Waesland—Capt. Apfeld Lost Life's Savings.

LIVERPOOL, March 7.—The British steamer Harmonides, which was in collision with and sank the Waesland Wednesday night about 40 miles south of Holyhead, has a great hole in her bows.

When the disaster occurred boats were quickly lowered, but the operation resulted in two fatalities. The end of one of the lifeboats slipped from its davit and precipitated the occupants of the boat into the sea. A steerage passenger, Edward Dangerfield of Kansas, struck his head against the boat's fittings and was instantly killed, and Elsie Emmett, 12 years old, the daughter of the Rev. A. Emmett, was drowned.

As the last boats were leaving the fast sinking ship, whose decks were already awash, an explosion announced that her boilers had burst, and 40 minutes after the first impact the Waesland gave a mighty lurch and disappeared. The passengers will proceed to Philadelphia WednesCay on board the Noordland.

When the Harmonides arrived her decks were crowded with half-clad passengers of the Waesland, whose haggard faces told the story of their trying experiences. So hurried was the departure from the sinking ship that in some cases passengers were only covered by blankets.

The Harmonides' stem and bow-plates were so torn and twisted that it is marvelous how she escaped sinking. She also has a deep dent in her port side.

Capt. Apfeld of the Waesland had on board his 35 years' savings in specie, but he would not leave the bridge to fetch the money until all the passengers were safely in the boats. Then it was too late to go below, and the money was lost. Mrs. Hanson of Chicago, a widow, was a considerable loser.

SCRANTON, KAS., March 7.—Edwin Daingerfield, drowned at the sinking of the steamer Waesland, was a resident of this place for more than 20 years, and was a prominent business man and politician. About a year ago Daingerfield and his family went to their native country, England, to live. A short time ago they decided to return here. He was aged 64.

NEW NAVAL COLLEGE.

England's King Figuratively Scuttles Alma Mater of British Navy.

LONDON, March 7.—King Edward, accompanied by Queen Alexandra, laid the foundation stone of the new Royal Naval College at Dartmouth, today, thereby, figuratively speaking, scuttling the old training ship Britannia, the Alma Mater of all the present generation of British naval officers. Papers and coins were deposited in a casket made of oak from the Britannia.

Emperor William of Germany, was represented by the German schoolship Moltke, whose cadets were inspected by the king. Their majesties afterward proceeded to Plymouth, where Queen Alexandra will tomorrow christen the British first-class battleship Queen.

REVOLUTIONISTS ARE MOVING INTO TURKEY

Movement of Troops Caused by Miss Stone's Abduction Left Loop-Hole Open.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 7.—Since the liberation of Miss Ellen M. Stone, the American missionary, numerous revolutionary bands have crossed from Bulgaria into Turkish territory, taking advantage of the temporary withdrawal of troops from the frontier.

This was evidently planned by the Macedonian committee, and although no immediate danger is feared, such crossing may result in conflicts with the Ottoman forces.

JERUSALEM, March 7.—The White Star line steamer Celtic, having on board 800 American tourists, arrived at Jaffa yesterday. One hundred Free Masons, representing every grand lodge in North America, will hold a Masonic meeting at King Solomon's quarries, under the auspices of the Royal Solomon Mother lodge of Jerusalem.

SPAIN'S YOUNG KING NOT FIT TO REIGN

Regency Likely to Be Indefinitely Extended While Alphonso Develops.

MAY FORM KING'S COUNCIL

MADRID, March 7.—(Special Cable.)—Much mystery surrounds the matter of prolonging the regency of Spain, owing, it is said, to the incapacity of the young king to exercise the functions of sovereignty. The more important newspapers, such as El Correo, organ of Senor Sagasta, and La Epoca, organ of the Conservative party, consider it of sufficient importance to devote much space to the subject. At court there seems to be a scheme to establish a sort of "king's council," to be composed of the queen regent, the presidents of the cortes, the Archbishop of Toledo and the ex-president of the council of ministers.

Another version is that the queen regent is to prolong her regency for five years in order to enable the king to complete his education by travel, etc. The censor is stopping all telegrams on this subject.

Chorus, Act II.....Courtiers at Royal Palace

In days of old, when thrones were lost and won,
A knave disguised him as a true king's son;
Which falsehood would the princess' love have told,
Had she not learned that who the crown did hold
Must marry one selected by the state—
A maid whose charms lay in her family plate.
To save her prince from this slim, fair unknown,
She let the false knave keep his ill-got throne
Until he and his maid were married fast
Beyond all peradventure; then at last
She told the rascal up to public view,
And gained her prince, the crown of Pomeru.

Sons of Old Nassau, past and present, with their friends and abettors, owned the Avenue theater last evening and held social Pittsburgh as a hostage during a merry two hours, while the Triangle club sang and frolicked through the musical comedy in which the students won histrionic fame last year in their annual contribution to the gaiety of college life. The title of the skit is "The King of Pomeru."

The libretto, which is practically identical with that of last year's play, was written by R. S. Thompson, 1901, and R. F. Swofford, 1901. The music is the work of S. I. Matthews, 1901, and H. M. Saylor, 1901. The score for the first solo in the second act, which is an additional feature in this year's rendition, was written by G. T. Bispham, 1904.

The plot is cleverly conceived and deals with the affairs of a mythical kingdom and the fortunes of the heir-apparent, who is temporarily deprived of his throne by an impostor.

Story of the Opera.

The real prince has a sweetheart who is a party to the plot, for the reason that if her lover is made king he must by an edict wed the daughter of an ugly old baroness. The story ends happily and the prince comes into his royal possessions, gets his wife and they live happy ever after.

To tell this story in a few words does not, of course, give any idea of the musical by-paths in which the end is reached by the composers and performers of the Triangle club. That is quite another story and a merry one, full of college humor and song, running off into burlesque and pointed with local gags that keep the audience in a constant state of laughter.

As a performance "The King of Pomeru" is a typical college skit, full of color and movement. The cast is a good one. W. O. Morse made a fetching villain, while his aids in treachery, Gayle L. Young and E. A. Moran, were the funmakers, a la Rogers brothers.

Bispham Made a Hit.

G. T. Bispham as the Countess de Montanie won instant attention by a make-up that would put him in Class A at a beauty show, and clinched his victory in the first act by a song in which he (she) told about a girl "with a lovely disposition."

Hugh Herndon as the real prince; W. B. Chamberlain as the chancellor; W. B. Grannis as the countess and W. S. Katzenbach as Freida all contributed to the fun and music, while the chorus was a special feature of excellence. The young Princetonians show the effect of good drilling, and their march choruses and evolutions were graceful and called for encore after encore. The orchestra was an invaluable aid, under the spirited leadership of Charles H. Bradley, 1902.

As a whole, the performance was immensely enjoyable, and proves excellence of histrionic and musical ability as well as points to the splendid spirit and good fellowship of the club, under whose direction these annual bits of merriment are projected.

Warm Welcome Extended.

On its social and local side the incoming of the "Tiger boys" was welcomed with the true spirit of comradeship and personal interest. The list of patronesses includes some of Pittsburgh's best people and the gathering at the Avenue theater was representative of the wealth and culture of the city. Princeton holds a warm place in the hearts of Pittsburghers and western Pennsylvanians. Hundreds of their sons have graduated from its halls and there is today a small army of representatives from this section who are preparing for life's battle under the classic shelter of her dome. In this connection and while the city is for two days the host of a body of Princetonians, it is interesting to scan the roster of students in that institution whose homes are in this section of the state. We give them by classes below:

HAROLD BAUER,
The Virtuoso Who Was Soloist at Last Night's Orchestra Concert.

HAROLD BAUER LENDS LUSTER TO THE CONCERT

PROVED HIMSELF MASTER

Week-Long Trip Told on Herbert's Musicians and They Showed Traces of the Fatigue from Their Journey to the East.

The presence of Harold Bauer as soloist gave decided lustre to the program of the Pittsburgh orchestra concert last night. This was the first Pittsburgh visit of the young virtuoso, on whose shoulders, it is said, the mantle of Rubinstein has fallen. His first solo justified all that has been said about him. He chose the Saint Saens concerto in G minor for his introductory number, and from the virility of the opening measures, played without orchestral accompaniment, through all the light and shade of the composition he proved himself entirely the master.

It were trite to say that his scales are like pearls, so frequently have mediocre renditions been compared to these pure flowers among jewels, but no other adjective adequately expresses the perfection of utterance apparent in all his legato work. The vivid force that resounds through the sterner measures makes this delicacy of his lighter passages the more grateful—and the more remarkable.

He was forced to give an encore after the concerto and in the second part of the program he played a Schubert impromptu with a tenderness and depth of feeling that evinced his artistic qualities and poetic understanding no less impressively than his power was shown in his earlier number. In all that he did there was satisfaction and enjoyment; in all that he showed of his musicianly power there was entire reason for the high position awarded him by common consent of those who have heard him.

The orchestra showed traces of the fatigue of the week-long trip just completed, from which the men returned only yesterday morning. The Mendelssohn Scotch symphony, which was the first number, was ragged and patchy in places and in the Massenet suite from "The Cid," despite the airy character of the various parts, there was a dragging spirit perceptible at times, but on the whole, this number was the best. The dragging was also true to the Rackoczy march, which closed the program, only the thunder of the finale giving evidence of any spirit or stir in the pulses of the players. In the accompaniment to the solo, the orchestra did some good work, materially strengthening the impression of virtuosity on the part of the soloist.

Unknown Man Found Dead.

An unknown man, aged about 30 years, was found dead yesterday morning in the West End Brick Company's yards in the Thirty-fifth ward. It is supposed the man's name was Forls, but this could not be verified. It is thought he lay down by a kiln to sleep and burned to death. He had dark brown hair and mustache, wore a black Fedora hat, dark coat and sweater, lace shoes, colored shirt and white cotton socks.

Supposed to be a River Fireman.

STEUBENVILLE, O., March 7.—(Special.)—The body of a floater, thought to be one of the firemen drowned off the John W. Ailes, was found in the river above the city today. The description is as follows: Smooth face, black hair, weight, 130 pounds, black lace shoes, heavy blue outside shirt, light underclothing, gray striped overalls, with apron such as worn by firemen.

More Smallpox.

Three more cases of smallpox were discovered in the city yesterday, making 11 this week. Walter Allen of No. 415 Ella street; George D. Washington, colored, of No. 90 Logan street, and Thomas P. Marshaw, colored, of No. 218 Erin street, are the victims. They were taken to the Municipal hospital.

New Savings Association.

The German-American Savings and Loan association of Allegheny was incorporated in Harrisburg yesterday. It is capitalized at $1,000,000. Prominent Alleghenians are stockholders of the institution.

FELLOW PRIESTS DIE TOGETHER

SAD COINCIDENCE OF A NIGHT AT MERCY HOSPITAL.

Fathers Conway and O'Niel, Students at St. Vincent's Together, Assistants at the Cathedral Together, Die in Almost Adjoining Rooms, Few Moments Apart

The Rev. Fathers John A. Conway, pastor of St. Richard's Roman Catholic church, in Webster avenue, near Thirty-third street, and T. J. O'Neil, pastor of the St. Agatha Roman Catholic church, Ellwood City, Pa., died last night at the Mercy hospital. Of the same age, they studied for the priesthood together and for nearly two weeks past they laid within a few rooms of each other. They died but a few hours apart.

Both Father Conway and Father O'Neil were numbered among the best known and most popular young priests of the Pittsburgh diocese. While still in their twenties and shortly after ordination they were honored with calls to St. Paul's cathedral as assistants. There the friendship of their college days was renewed and continued throughout their lives.

Born in Trenton.

Father Conway was born in Trenton, N. J., 39 years ago, and received his classical training in St. John's college, Fordham, New York city, which is in charge of the fathers of the Society of Jesus. After his graduation Father Conway went to St. Vincent's college, at Beatty, near Latrobe, and there he received his training in theology, under the direction of the fathers of the Order of St. Benedict. His first appointment was to Ford City, Pa. Later he went to the Holy Cross church, Carson and South Thirty-second streets, and from there to the cathedral, where he remained about six years.

Father Conway was next appointed by Bishop Phelan to organize a new parish from a portion of the old St. Bridgid's parish in the hill district, which about eight years ago became too large.

Built Fine Little Church.

In a short time he had built a small but handsome little church building for his new congregation. Recently he had erected a splendid parochial residence and had other large improvements in contemplation when he was stricken by appendicitis. Slightly over a week ago his condition became alarming and he was removed to the Mercy hospital, where, on last Sunday morning, an operation was performed. Father Conway at first rallied slightly from the operation, but since Wednesday night all hope of his recovery was given up.

The show committee has decided to forego the usual morning performance of the dog circus for the orphans, but there will be a special performance for children at 11 o'clock this morning. Other performances of the dog circus will be at 3 o'clock this afternoon and the final at 9 this evening.

SPEND TOO MUCH MONEY.

Judge Baldwin Says Workmen Have Too Many Lace Curtains in Their Homes to Save Money.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., March 7.—(Special.)—Judge Simeon E. Baldwin of this city, professor in the Yale law school and associate justice of the supreme court of errors, advises a single workingman earning $1.50 a day to save a quarter every day and not to marry until he has accumulated a fund of $100 in reserve for an emergency.

Judge Baldwin is also convinced that workingmen eat more than is necessary. More fruit and less meat should be used, he says, and no one should eat more than two hearty meals a day. The American workingman, he declares, eats twice as much meat and dresses better than his European equal. As to his home, Judge Baldwin says lace curtains are too frequently a feature to make saving easy.

These ideas were presented in an address to workingmen in Hartford tonight on "Saving and Spending."

"Display, extravagance and a certain dash are evident in many ways," he said. He advised his hearers to place their small surplus in savings banks until they had accumulated enough to buy a modest home.

GENERAL O'BEIRNE SAYS:

"Pe-ru-na is an Effective Cure for Catarrh."

General James R. O'Beirne, 290 Broadway, Washington, D. C., late Commissioner of Charities of New York City, N. Y., and Assistant Commissioner of Immigration, writes as follows:

"As many of my friends and acquaintances have successfully used your Peruna as a catarrh cure, I feel that it is an effective remedy, and I recommend it as such to those suffering from that disease as a most hopeful source of relief."

JAMES R. O'BEIRNE.

Spring Time the Best Season of the Year to Treat Chronic Catarrh.

Notwithstanding that a great number of people have been cured of chronic catarrh by taking Peruna during the past cold season, yet it cannot be denied that the cold, wet, stormy weather has retarded many cures, and, in some cases, actually prevented a cure.

But springtime has come at last, and now is the time for all catarrh sufferers to begin a systematic course of treatment for this disease. The greatest difficulty in the way of treating chronic catarrh is that the patient is so liable to catch cold during the treatment and thus delay a cure.

This liability at this season of the year is, in a great measure, removed, and no one should neglect the opportunity to take treatment.

Peruna is acknowledged by everyone to be the only reliable and unfailing cure of catarrh wherever it may be located. When you take Peruna you are not experimenting with an unknown remedy.

Men and women of national reputation, as well as thousands in the humbler walks of life, publicly endorse Peruna. Peruna does all that is claimed for it. It cures catarrh.

Mr. John E. Burns, 28 Spring Garden Road, Halifax, N. S., Water Inspector, writes:

"I can hardly find words that can express my thanks to you for what your remedy has done for me. I have been troubled with catarrh of the head for a couple of years, and I was persuaded to try Peruna, and found great benefit after using three bottles, and I can recommend it highly to anyone suffering from the same."

JOHN E. BURNS.

Peruna Cured Catarrh of Several Years' Standing.

Mr. G. L. Martin, Hartford, Ont., choir leader at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, writes:

"Peruna is a wonderful remedy for catarrhal troubles. I have been troubled with catarrh for a great many years, and always trying something for it, but was able only to secure temporary relief until I used Peruna. Only five bottles rid my system of all traces of catarrh, and I have not noticed the slightest trouble for several months. My head was stopped up, my breath offensive, and it is a relief to be able to breathe freely once more."

G. L. MARTIN.

A Prominent Canadian Testifies.

Mr. Joseph Crees, Gov. House, Ottawa, Canada, Head Steward to Lord Minto, Gov. General of Canada, writes:

"I wish to emphasize my high opinion of Peruna as the finest remedy I have ever known for catarrhal afflictions. I have used it and have found it an excellent tonic and a grand blood purifier. I have recommended its use to a number of men under me and am pleased to say that nothing I have ever observed gets a sick man out of bed and well again as quickly as Peruna. I am glad to be able to tell of its merits."

JOSEPH CREES.

If you do not receive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

addressed them and congratulated them on their splendid appearance.

The parade grounds were surrounded by a great crowd, and the entire review made an impressive picture. The day was bright and clear, and the views of the river and surrounding country was excellent. At the close of the review the prince visited Memorial hall, where the officers on duty at the academy were introduced to him.

Shown Some Rough Riding.

Leaving Memorial hall, the prince and his staff went to the riding school, where the cadets gave an exhibition of riding. The jumping feats of Cadet Herr of the First class attracted the attention of the prince and at his request Herr repeated a standing jump to the back of his horse in motion. The cadet landed safely on his feet and jumped off again without losing his balance. After the display of rough riding the prince was taken to the gymnasium and a class of cadets went through their exercises for him.

The parting call of the prince was at the house of Col. Mills, whom he repeatedly congratulated and thanked. He was so much interested in the post that he prolonged his stay 20 minutes beyond the time set for his departure.

Saluted at His Departure.

Col. Mills was invited to ride on the special to New York and rode with the prince to the station. As the carriage with cavalry escort left the grounds another salute of 21 guns was fired. The special left West Point 20 minutes behind schedule time, but made up for it before Weehawken was reached.

Prince Henry sent for George W. Boyd, assistant general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania railroad, who personally directed the railroad arrangements of the tour, and thanked him. He paid high compliment to American railroads and in conclusion asked Mr. Boyd to be his guest at luncheon on Tuesday next.

Back in New York Again.

Consul General Buenz and Consul Geissler met the special at Weehawken and escorted the prince to the ferry steamer West Point. At the pier the prince encountered a crowd of commuters and they welcomed him with cheers. The West Point ran to Forty-second street and landed its royal passenger at 5:50 o'clock. Detective Captain Titus and a dozen detectives, two score patrolmen and a squad of mounted police were on hand to conduct the prince to the Waldorf-Astoria.

Prince Henry reached the hotel shortly after 6 o'clock and retired at once to his apartments, where he rested and made preparations for the events of the night, which consisted of dinner at the University club and a "Kommers," given at the Arion club.

Meanwhile, the entrance to the section of the hotel set apart for the prince and his suite and attendants was closely guarded by policemen and no one was allowed to enter. A crowd had gathered on the streets nearby and when the prince entered his carriage at 8 o'clock he was greeted with cheers. The prince occupied a closed carriage. The members of his suite and party followed in a quick drive to the University club in Eighth avenue.

Dinner at University Club.

The German ambassador and consul general, with Gen. Nelson A. Miles and his staff, were the only other guests at the dinner. The prince met the president of the club, Henry E. Howland, in the reception room and after a few minutes of informal conversation dinner was announced.

The diners numbered 94. There were no speeches and only three toasts, "The President of the United States," "The German Emperor" and "Prince Henry of Prussia."

HENRY VIOLATED A WILL.

Unwittingly Broke a Proviso in Washington's Testament Not to Draw Frederick's Sword.

NEW YORK, March 7.—(Special.)—There was a peculiar accident at the exhibition of the sword presented to Gen. Washington by Frederick the Great at the executive chamber in Albany.

When the will of Gen. Washington was read after his death, it was found that he had willed his five swords to his five nephews, with the proviso "that they should not be drawn from their scabbard unless in the defense of the country." The sword presented by Frederick the Great has been strictly kept in scabbard, in compliance with the provisions of the will.

When it was handed to Prince Henry he drew the blade from the scabbard. Of course he did not know of the provisions of the will, but he had, nevertheless, innocently violated them. No mention of the occurrence was made to the prince.

COLOMBIA IS ANXIOUS FOR THE PANAMA ROUTE

New Envoy Says That Enemies of the Purchase Have Been Too Busy.

AGREEMENT IS POSSIBLE

Don Jose Concha Declares a Mutually Satisfactory Agreement Between His Government and Ours May Be Easily Attained.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, March 7.—Don Jose Vicente Concha, minister plenipotentiary to the United States from Colombia, who arrived in this city a few days ago from Bogota, has addressed an official communication to William Nelson Cromwell, the general counsel of the new Panama Canal Company, on the attitude of Colombia with regard to the construction of the Panama canal. The communication follows:

"Confirming the conference which we have held upon the subject of the relations between the republic of Colombia, the United States of America and the new Panama Canal Company, I beg leave to state, in answer to your specific inquiries, that the cable communication made to the Panama Canal Company by my government on the 28th ultimo was purely formal and as a reminder of well-known conditions.

Would Rather Like the Purchase.

"It was not declaratory of opposition to the proposed transaction between the canal company and the United States, if made under the reserve of an agreement between Colombia and the United States. That incident has been so distorted by the enemies of the Panama canal route that I take pleasure in confirming my assurances to you that the government of Colombia does not at all object to the sale and transfer as proposed by the canal company to the United States, but on the contrary my government approves of the steps taken by the canal company and will give all requisite consents and do all in its power to facilitate the matter under the reserve referred to.

Glad to Co-Operate.

"Colombia welcomes the construction of the Panama canal within its domains by the United States and entertains for this government and its people the warmest spirit of cordiality in the completion of this, the greatest enterprise of modern times, destined to have a most beneficent and material influence in the development of the interests of both nations.

"This concurrence of Colombia in any sale by the new Panama Canal Company to the government of the United States is with the reservation, of course, that a mutually satisfactory convention shall be agreed upon between Colombia and the United States as to their respective rights and relations to the Panama canal to be constructed by the United States, and we have not the least doubt that such agreement will be reached.

Brings Proposals to Us.

"Animated by this spirit and governed by these views, I have been empowered by my government to proceed with the pending negotiations with this government; and, as I bring the most recent instructions and view of my government, I am happy to give assurance of our sincere desire to conclude such negotiations promptly and upon a reasonable basis. I am now developing the views and proposals of Colombia upon the subject with the design of encouraging a speedy and full consummation of the purchase by the government of the United States of all the rights, concessions and properties of the new Panama Canal Company and as far as permitted to transfer to a foreign government by the laws of Colombia and the establishment between Colombia and the United States of a definite and satisfactory convention upon an equitable and satisfactory basis."

MAKING PREPARATIONS FOR THE CONVENTION.

Plans for Standing Committees for the Advancement of Science Gathering Here in June.

A meeting of the general local committee of arrangements appointed to prepare for the convention of the American Association for the Advancement of Science was held yesterday afternoon in the lecture room of the Carnegie library. About 30 members of the committee attended. Dr. W. J. Holland was chosen permanent chairman, after which the committee discussed plans for carrying on the work of arranging for the convention which will be a stupendous affair and will be attended by from 600 to 1,000 scientific men and women of this and other countries.

Dr. Holland appointed the following committee to name standing committees: Charles F. Scott, W. L. Scaife, Emil Swensson, Dr. Daniel Carhart, Prof. John A. Brashear, Miss Julia Morgan Harding, Mrs. Darwin S. Wolcott, Mrs. F. P. Sviter and Father McDermitt. He also appointed John B. Jackson, H. K. Porter and Alexander Dempster a committee on finance, with power to increase the membership of the committee as they see proper.

Dr. Holland stated that he had received many letters from scientific men from all over the country making inquiries regarding the outlook for the convention which will be held here from June 26 to July 3 inclusive, and giving much encouragement to the project. Among the letters received was one from Prof. I. C. White, the celebrated geologist of Morgantown, W. Va., who will read a paper before the convention regarding the geological formation of the country in this section.

Prof. White will show, Dr. Holland said, that before the glacial period that the Menongahela river ran north into the St. Lawrence river via the course of the Allegheny river and that when the great glacier came down from the north the Monongahela river was turned southwest and scooped out the great Ohio valley. The committee adjourned to meet on Friday, March 21, at 3 p. m., when the secretary of the association, Prof. Howard, will come here to assume general charge of the work of preparing for the convention.

After the committee adjourned the committee appointed by Dr. Holland to name the several standing committees met and agreed that the executive committee shall consist of 15 members, the finance committee 15, the gentlemen's reception and entertainment committee 20, the ladies' reception and entertainment committee 10, the committee on rooms and halls 5, the committee on printing 5, the excursion committee 10, the committee on accommodations 10 and the press committee, one representative from each of the daily papers. Each standing committee shall have the power to increase its membership as it sees fit.

The committee then adjourned until Tuesday, March 11 at 3:30 p. m., when the names of the members of the standing committees will be made public.

What They Are.

Composition of the Famous

GRAPE-NUTS

FOOD.

A widespread interest has been created among good livers, as to the composition of Grape-Nuts, the popular food. It has long been known to physicians, chemists and food experts, that the starchy portion of entire wheat flour and barley is transformed into a true and very choice sugar by the act of intestinal digestion in the human body. This sugar is identical with, and is known as grape sugar, and it is in condition for immediate transformation into blood and the necessary structure from which the delicate nerve centers are built up.

A food expert of the Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., Battle Creek, Mich., followed a line of experiments until he produced the food called Grape-Nuts, of which grape sugar forms the principal part, and it is produced by following out Nature's processes, in a mechanical way. That is, heat, moisture and time are the methods employed and directed by scientific facts gained in research.

Grape-Nuts are probably entitled to the claim to be the most perfectly adapted food for human needs now extant. Certain it is that the user's delight in the flavor and the perfect action of intestinal digestion during the use of Grape-Nuts is satisfying, and the added strength of body confirms the facts.

FOURTEEN PAGES.

The Recorder's Opportunity.

One of the ordinances asked by the Pittsburgh Railways Company passed common council yesterday. The two others failed, as they did before, for lack of a legal majority. The friends of the recorder voted for the passage of the ordinances, notwithstanding his declaration in his letter to the officers of the Philadelphia and Pittsburgh Railways companies that there should be "a reasonable return to the city" for "franchise ordinances granted." There is no doubt that the recorder could have influenced his friends in councils to withhold action on the traction ordinances until such time as the matter of "a reasonable return to the city" could have been arranged. A message to councils voicing the sentiment expressed in the letter to Messrs. Reed and Callery would have had weight, in addition to furnishing evidence that the recorder really meant what he said when he wrote that "the city will first insist upon a guarantee of a reasonable return to the city for future street franchise ordinances granted." Half the zeal that was displayed when select council was whipped into line for the charter ordinance might have resulted in a majority against the free grants proposed in the ordinances, one of which passed, while two merely failed to pass. Had there been such a majority it would have furnished a good starting point for the movement that will find positive expression in the new councils in favor of the taxation of all public service corporations.

As the matter now stands the recorder, unless moved in some way to the bold policy of vetoing the ordinance that has passed councils, leaves the whole subject of franchise taxation to the committee that is to be appointed by him to act in conjunction with the officers of the traction lines. The subject, however, is one for councils and the officers of the city government, rather than for a committee without power to enforce its decisions. The recorder's admission of the justice of the principle of the taxation of franchises is an indorsement of the position of the reform minority in councils and has as much application to the two franchise ordinances remaining in that body as to any that may appear later. The majority should take note of this. The recorder's admission has no less application to the ordinance that passed councils, and it is now up to him, thereby giving him the opportunity to demonstrate his sincerity by vetoing it, to have it come up again accompanied by the proper provision for a readjustment of the relations with the city of the corporations now using the streets without paying for the privilege.

Has Recorder Brown the courage to take this step?

The Camera Man.

The ubiquitous photographer is the only feature of the United States to which Prince Henry has made public objection during his rapid transit investigation of our glorious country. To one not accustomed to this modern, up-to-date recording angel his ways may seem objectionable, but it must be admitted by the most prejudiced that he has his uses. He preserves for tomorrow the scenes of today, and as a result of his labors remote posterity may have a correct representation of historic occurrences such as no pen could give. A little reflection will bring to mind the uses of the much-abused individual, who, though he may touch the button for his own pleasure or profit, does it often no less for the general edification. It was at Harvard, in his public address, that the prince spoke with polite disparagement of the person who is often referred to among ourselves as "the camera fiend." The circumstance that he is so known indicates that others than Henry have taken exception to him. Indeed, as a case in point, our readers will readily recall how our strenuous chief executive rebuked a camera artist who tried to "take" him as he was emerging from a church at Washington very early in his presidential career. Earlier than his Harvard speech Prince Henry manifested a desire to be let alone by the kodak man. At the tomb of Washington he requested those who were there with their cameras not to use them, and his wishes were respected. But what could have been in better form than a picture of a prince in whose veins flows the blood of the great Frederick and of the third George placing a wreath on the tomb of Washington? It would have been a picture possessing real historic value, and we can only regret that the Prussian prince did not think of it in that way and permit the camera men to touch the buttons of their magic instruments to their hearts' content. It may be modesty on the prince's part, but if so it is mistaken modesty. Some of the most prized pictures of President McKinley are snap shots that were taken at Buffalo before the fatal bullet laid him low, and some of these pictures were of great use in the trial of his assassin. We might multiply good words for the "camera fiend," but it is hardly necessary. He may at times be inopportune and obtrusive, but he has his uses, and because of them he has come to stay until he is superseded by something better. He is so useful that he has become a fixed quantity in journalism, and when that is said the folly of trying to evade him or frown him down is apparent. We may not love him for the enemies he has made, but we appreciate him for the good he is doing.

The Business Situation.

Floods and heavy snowstorms have again interfered with many lines of business this week. In eastern cities the obstruction of street car traffic reduced the volume of retail trade. In the west the breaking up of country roads is cited as a cause for the falling off in grain deliveries. Railway blockades prevented the movement of merchandise, and in manufacturing districts the resulting shortage in fuel was a serious drawback. The prostration of telegraph wires in various sections of the country added to the general delay in transacting business. These unusual conditions will account in large measure for the slight decrease in clearing house transactions reported by some leading cities.

Taking a general view, the appearance of the industrial situation continues satisfactory. Mills and factories are booked so far ahead with profitable orders—some of them it is said for delivery in 1903—that plenty of work at good wages seems to be assured for the remainder of the year. The conference held during the week between members of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers and the American Tin Plate Company officials is a favorable indication of the present attitude of capital and labor and furnishes ground for the hope that there will be no serious interruptions this year from strikes.

Commodity values remain firm, with higher prices for some descriptions of iron and steel for prompt delivery, and an advancing tendency in cotton and wheat. The exports of the latter for the week were 4,095,000 bushels, an increase of 860,000 bushels over the preceding week and only slightly below the total for the corresponding week last year. Exports of corn were only 352,000 bushels, compared with 3,955,000 bushels for the same week last year. The falling off in the latter is, of course, due to the shortage in the crop and the prevailing high price. In this connection, however, it is worthy of note that despite the enormous falling off in the movement of corn, which is the money-making cereal for the railroads, earnings of the latter continue to show an increase over the largest totals for the corresponding season in every previous year. This demonstrates the fact that other kinds of traffic have more than offset the loss in grain shipments. With railroad equipment still taxed to the utmost to handle the freight now offering, one can imagine what would have been the condition of transportation companies if the corn crop had been up to the average.

Money market conditions received considerable attention this week. This was due to the large engagements of gold for export made during the early part of the week and their subsequent partial cancellation. The total amount exported was about $4,000,000. This movement is unusual at this season, and there has been no really satisfactory explanation for it. The only effect upon rates was a slight advance on call loans. The national bank reports published in response to the call of the comptroller of the currency show a large expansion in loans at interior cities, which is easily accounted for by the increased requirements of general trade.

The Way to Retire.

It used to be said of a former public man in this state that whenever he observed the applause to be weakening he would raise his hat to start it going again. Similarly it may be said of one Pittsburgh man, that whenever he notes that the public interest is falling he makes another announcement of his retirement from politics because of the pressure of business. One of Pennsylvania's senators was for some time associated in the public mind with the shaking of a plum tree, but this retiring Pittsburgher of whom we speak promises to make himself best remembered in connection with the shaking of a chestnut tree. However Senator Flinn has now retired by retiring, and and seems to have done it up thoroughly in an official way.

An Atrocious Crime.

The wanton murder of aged Henry B. Smith in his home near Saxonburg, Butler county, is the most atrocious of the many crimes that have been committed by robbers in recent years. The deed is one of the blackest in the annals of Butler county, and nothing should be left undone to capture these fiends in human form. Although brutal in the extreme their actions testify to their cowardice, for there were three of them, and their only opponent was a defenseless old man. The most urgent duty is to hunt them down with all possible haste, and in this work the Butler county officers should have the assistance of the police authorities at all places where aid can be given. The murderers will be a menace to every community while they are at large, and the sooner they are apprehended the sooner will a feeling of security be restored. Cowards as these brutes have shown themselves to be, their arrest should be an easy task for courageous pursuers, and after they have been taken into custody no time should be wasted in their journey to the gallows.

The Spread of Smallpox.

Eleven people, the majority of whom are white, have been affected by smallpox. Most of the cases hitherto recorded have occurred among colored people, and on the whole the disease was of such a mild type that no extra precautions were taken to eradicate it. This was a mistake. Dr. D. B. Booth says there is no disguising the fact that smallpox is spreading rapidly among persons who have not been vaccinated, and, furthermore, that only unvaccinated people, so far, have been attacked. The most serious matter for consideration in connection with the epidemic, apart from the probability of it spreading generally through the city, is its virulent nature. Generally speaking the first appearance of an infectious disease is of a mild character, then it becomes more virulent in the process of incubation, until it reaches the generally fatal stage, becoming mild again, and finally disappearing as mysteriously as it came. Cold weather is undoubtedly favorable to the propagation of smallpox. There are happily indications of the early approach of spring. There is, however, one hygienic measure which can combat the spread of smallpox successfully. It is vaccination. The prophylactic is so simple and certain that there is absolutely no reason why smallpox should exist in a civilized community.

Prof. Ernst Halle of Berlin has written a book advocating the absorption of Holland by Germany. The geographical position of Holland on the North Sea, her Dutch East Indian possessions in the Pacific, her kinship in blood and her geographical affinity would make it a valuable acquisition. But Hollanders are difficult to absorb. They fought Spain like tigers, at the height of her greatness; they defied the naval might of Great Britain and sent their warships under the valiant Van Tromp to the mouth of the Thames. They have fought religious wars, commercial wars and wars of independence without number, and, although they have known defeat and conquest and partition, yet Holland still belongs to the Dutch. And when transplanted and called Boers their fighting blood asserts itself as of yore.

Remembering their bad luck in Lord Salisbury's case and in the case of Secretary Long, we are not putting great faith in the efforts of correspondents to separate Mr. Schwab from his job.

The Pennsylvania gubernatorial discussion has served to develop the fact that there are quite a number of reserve men that may be made use of in case of an emergency.

Boston will at least feel very much better next morning as a result of its abstinence from sky rockets and adherence to pedagogics.

Some of the enthusiastic banqueters in honor of the prince might find a little doctoring advantageous just at this stage of the game.

Does the fire in the city hall tower at Philadelphia indicate that politics under that dome have reached the red-hot stage?

Perhaps the Bulgarian brigands had the magazines in mind when they swore Miss Stone to absolute secrecy.

It is quite natural that Brother William should feel gratified. We are doing the best we can.

THE PRINCE MAY VISIT PITTSBURGH INCOGNITO

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, March 7.

Prince Henry is with us again. After a tempestuous time at Albany, where the governor of the state kept him waiting on the breezy station platform for 15 minutes while the executive put on a clean collar, and a short seance with the soldier boys at West Point, the prince reached New York city this evening. He was tired, and he went to the Hohenzollern immediately for a bath and a rest. He was not allowed to keep out of sight very long, because he was scheduled for a dinner at the University club, as well as for a few minutes' visit to a kommers at the Arion club. This good-natured prince keeps all his engagements. He quaffed a glass of beer at the kommers and spent several jolly hours at the University club, whose home is near enough to Madison Square garden for the scent of the pines at the Sportsmen's club to penetrate to the dining-room. The prince says he has enjoyed his swing around the circle, and he says it with an emphasis that leaves no doubt of his sincerity. He would have liked to stay longer in Pittsburgh, but the schedule had been arranged beforehand, and he was obliged to slip through the city without seeing any of its manufactures. As the time for his departure for home approaches he will not be able to run over to Pittsburgh this time, but persons close to the prince say that it is quite possible he will slip over to the United States incognito, with the primary object of going through the mills and factories that have a world-wide reputation. Prince Henry is an inquiring young man, and he is anything but wrapped up in the tinsel and show of official ceremony. He came into New York this evening without any particular notice being taken of him. It was understood that he wanted to be quiet, and his wishes were respected. Besides, most of us have seen him now, and he is no longer an object of curiosity.

A Chance to Secure Art Treasures.

Connoisseurs in pottery, porcelains and similar objects of artistic fancy will soon have a chance to acquire some splendid specimens. The valuable collection of Samuel Colman, N. A., which have been at his Newport home, is to be sold by auction at the American art galleries for several days, beginning March 19. In the catalogue are rare old Chinese and Japanese pottery and porcelains, exceedingly scarce Ukiyoye prints, fine old lacquers, bronzes, textiles and other rare objects. It is a common thing for Pittsburghers to attend sales of this kind, and it is expected that a number will be present to bid on some of the lots on this occasion.

Gov. Odell Wields His Ax.

This was a day of sudden removals of public officials in New York. One of the victims was Charles Guden, who was thrown out of the office of sheriff of Kings county by Gov. Odell; and another was George S. Blair, superintendent of outdoor poor of New York, who was removed peremptorily by Commissioner Folks. Blair's job was worth $2,400 a year and he will make a fight to get it back. The ex-sheriff may do the same thing, because there seems to be some doubt among his friends whether Gov. Odell had the legal right to cut off his head with one stroke of his snickersnee without going through certain formalities. The governor is a sturdy fellow, who does what he thinks he will, and rather welcomes a fight. Norman S. Dike was appointed by the governor in Guden's place. Guden is charged by the governor with improper action in connection with the last election.

Minstrel Bryant's Funeral.

Funeral services over the remains of Neil Bryant, the veteran minstrel who died yesterday, will be held tomorrow at St. Mary's hospital, Brooklyn. A great many floral offerings have been sent, and it is expected that there will be a large attendance at the funeral. Dockstader and Primrose, who are playing in New York at present, are both expected to go over to hear the last words spoken over their old fellow-performer.

Brooklyn Drinking Mud.

Brooklyn is always having some trouble with its public water supply. A few months ago the grievance was not enough water to go around. There is plenty of water in Brooklyn now, but it is so full of mud and other matter that physicians are warning people not to drink it. It is pronounced hardly good enough even for washing in. But Brooklynites are not to be kept from washing their faces by such an intimation as this. Drinking is another matter, and there may be a rise in the price of beer unless the water supply improves very soon.

A Preacher's Plan to Relieve Bridge.

Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, pastor of Plymouth church, has come forward with a plan for relieving the pressure on the Brooklyn bridge. As the reverent doctor's plan involves a tunnel under the East river, and the condemning of a vast amount of property in the most valuable districts of Greater New York, it is too early to say that his idea is practicable. It is interesting to note, however, that the busy pastor can find time to look after the temporal as well as spiritual needs of his congregation and the city at large, and that his notions are practical, too.

Beet Sugar from Germany.

Here's reciprocity. While Uncle Sam is entertaining Prince Henry, a big Hamburg-American freight steamer has just reached this port with 20,700 bags of beet sugar brought from Stettin and Hamburg.

Sickness in Lamont's Family.

Daniel S. Lamont, secretary of war in President Cleveland's second administration, has domestic troubles. His daughter, Miss Julia Lamont, is ill with brain fever at her father's home in West Fifty-third street. Mr. Lamont is vice president of the Northern Pacific railroad.

McGovern's Birthday Banquet.

"Terrible Terry" McGovern will be 22 years of age on Sunday. A lot of his admirers in Brooklyn, his home, have determined to celebrate the anniversary with a banquet at one of the popular cafes. Terry is on the road with his play, "The Road to Ruin," but will be home tomorrow night, so that he can take part in the festivities. The irrepressible Sam Harris, his manager, who is at French Lick Springs, also will be home to wish Terry the compliments of the occasion. Terry has made considerable of a mark in pugilism for a 22-year-older.

The Chorus Girl Market Better.

It is a relief to be told that there is no scarcity of chorus girls in New York. Last summer there was a great demand for what have come to be known as "show girls" for the various musical comedies that were put forth. The ordinary salary of a chorus girl in New York is $15 a week, but at the time the demand for them was greater than the visible supply their salaries went up to $35 for fine specimens of female pulchritude, particularly when there was a bearable voice connected with the physical beauty. It is said now that there are chorus girls galore moving up and down Broadway and in and out of the dramatic agencies. The reason given for this overplus is that there have been two or three big musical productions called in lately. In spite of all this, however, a real "show girl," with experience as well as loveliness, can be pretty sure of an engagement, and at a satisfactory salary, too.

Hair Dressing in a Show Window.

One of the attractions in a show window in the shopping district this afternoon was a young woman with a wealth of golden-yellow hair, who sat with her back to the street while she arranged her coiffure. She was sticking in her back hair with a small contrivance which was lavishly placarded in the window as a "pectinerium." It looked like a small comb, but might have been a spring lock, a mousetrap or a shoe buttoner for all the casual observer could tell. The main thing was that there was such a crowd of women in front of the store that a policeman was obliged to work hard keeping a pathway for traffic. Whether or not the "pectinerium," as the placards declared, is the only perfect hair-retainer in the world," certainly its display in the golden hair in the young woman's back tresses was a success as a free show for the passing throng.

Better Weather for Theatergoers.

The theaters did a big business tonight. The snow has been cleared away from Broadway, and this is just the night for theatergoing, being not too cold, and allowing women to get from carriages and street cars to the theater doors without being draggled through a foot or so of slush. It has not been possible to say this for nearly a month, and theater managers are in better spirits this evening than they have been since the first blizzard in February.

Pittsburghers Going to Coronation.

The steamship Kronprinz Wilhelm, which brought Prince Henry to America, will sail on her return voyage tomorrow, taking a large number of passengers, most of them going across the Atlantic to attend the coronation ceremonies of King Edward VII. Among them will be Mr. and Mrs. George Muirhead and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Dilworth of Pittsburgh. The decorations placed in the saloon and cabins of the Kronprinz Wilhelm for the prince are still there, and the passengers sailing in the ship tomorrow will have handsomer surroundings than are usually found in an ocean liner, luxurious as modern travel is in a general way.

Sage Wears His Sunday Overcoat.

Russell Sage came downtown in his Sunday overcoat today and created a sensation in Wall street. The Sunday overcoat is not a new one, but it is better than that which he has been wearing every day. The Sunday coat is brown; the other gray. As soon as he appeared in the street today there was a ripple of remark up and down the line, for everyone knows "Uncle Russell," and most of them know his wardrobe as well as he knows it himself. He takes his luncheon every day at the Western Union building, where it is served free to him and the other directors, and he says the walk of seven blocks from his Wall street office to the corner of Broadway and Dey street gives him a healthy appetite. His brown coat was the subject of general comment at the luncheon today, but he pretended not to notice it. Probably he enjoyed it in his usual quiet way, however.

A Million-Dollar Present.

Mr. and Mrs. Payne Whitney are to have a million dollar residence in Fifth avenue, this city, a gift from Col. Oliver H. Payne, Mr. Whitney's uncle. It was said at the time of the wedding that there would be a gift of this kind, but it was not till last week that the colonel bought the site. He gave $500,000 for it, and most likely will spend as much again on the house itself.

Recipe for Mrs. Kane's Famous Pie.

Some weeks ago I told in this letter about a certain lemon pie made by Mrs. J. E. Kane, which fell into the hands, and mouths, of members of a stock brokerage firm. They liked the pie so much that they bought several shares of Northern Pacific for the fair maker of the pie, and she cleared $400 by the transaction. As this must have been a good pie to make so much money for the young woman, it will be interesting to see the recipe for the pie, furnished by Mrs. Kane herself. She gives it thus: For the crust, six cups of flour, one pinch of salt, lard according to judgment; ice water to dampen crust after lard is well worked into the flour. Knead lightly, so that the dough will just hold together. Put into earthen vessel. Freeze on ice over night. The filling consists of three cups of boiling water, three tablespoonfuls of corn starch to thicken; yolks of three eggs, white of one egg, white of two eggs for frosting; butter the size of a walnut; juice of three lemons and grated rind. Note that the main thing to look out for is the freezing of the crust over night.

One May Choose In Carlsbad.

One bright New York woman remarked today that it was unnecessary for New Yorkers to go to Carlsbad for the mud baths. The only difference between Carlsbad and New York in this connection is that in Carlsbad one need not take a mud bath if he does not want to, while in New York he gets it every time he goes out of doors. MUSIC IN THE SMALL HOURS WAS CHEERFUL

Prince Henry's Aid Says That His Superior Was Overjoyed by Demonstrations at Night.

NEW YORK, March 7.—Through Capt. von Muller, his aid, Prince Henry of Prussia tonight made a statement as to his tours. Capt. von Muller said:

His royal highness is very much pleased by his trip into the interior of the United States. He is fully aware of the fact that he has had only a very superficial glimpse of a very small portion of the United States and that he might perhaps have used his time to greater advantage had he remained in one of the larger cities of the east. But he is convinced, nevertheless, that, considering the character of his mission, the trip was the right thing for him to do. In making it he has obtained a very fair idea of the vastness of the country and its resources, which the capital of the United States and the great commercial centers of the east alone could not have given him. But more than this impression he values the hearty welcome which he met in all the places he went through, a welcome that showed him how the people of the United States everywhere understood and appreciated the intention of the German emperor in sending him here.

The prince made a speech in St. Louis in which he said he regretted not to have been able always to express his thanks to those who greeted him at the railway stations or who otherwise desired to show him their respects. He wishes to have the intent of that speech conveyed to all those who in the course of the trip gave him such a cordial reception and especially he wishes to express his thanks to those who, early in the morning when he was not prepared and still in bed, welcomed him with music and cheers.

The receptions by the great cities of the south and the middle west were more than he ever had expected and so were the receptions in the east. But his royal highness is equally thankful for what the smaller places did in showing him their good will, though the train in such places stopped only a few minutes and frequently not at all.

Altogether the prince is most gratified by his trip and shall never forget how the American people everywhere met him with hospitality and sympathy.

CITY HALL TOWER ABLAZE.

Philadelphia Fire Causes More Excitement Than Damage.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., March 7.—(Special.)—Much excitement but small damage was caused by a fire in the City hall tower, 250 feet above the level of the street, today at noon. One wooden closet, one wooden roof over a dynamo, two blue prints, three grease-soaked overalls and a pipe were consumed.

The flames originated in the closet containing the grease-soaked jumpers on the seventh floor and at the base of the tower. They had burned through the closet and were eating up the wooden roof of a dynamo before 17 persons simultaneously discovered them. Sixteen of the discoverers ran in different directions, the 17th ran to a barrel fire extinguisher by the corner elevator and put out the fire.

Many Licenses Refused.

JOHNSTOWN, PA., March 7.—(Special.)—Out of 91 applicants for liquor license, Judge Kooser of Somerset county today refused 21 and held over six. Judge Kooser said the court would not look with favor upon any except hotel men who had houses equipped for the comfortable entertainment of the traveling public.

PERSONALS.

Emmett M. Showalter, a prominent attorney and politician of Fairmont, W. Va., is a guest at Newell's hotel. He is here to close a deal with Pittsburgh parties for a gas well in the Mannington field. Mr. Showalter said: "I today paid Pittsburgh parties $40,000 for a gas well with a large capacity in the Mannington field. I represented the Fairmont Gas & Light Company. It is our intention to pipe the gas from Mannington to Fairmont, where we will compete with the company at present furnishing gas there. We have the backing of the board of trade, and it is the purpose of the company to give low rates for gas to manufactories. We will also promote the location of manufacturing companies in Fairmont.

"Fairmont is progressing with a rapidity that is surprising to those not acquainted with her advantages. Being the center of the Fairmont coal region of the state the town is growing and taking on metropolitan airs that demand the attention of the business men. The street car line recently constructed from Fairmont to Clarksburg is proving a great success and is bringing much business to Fairmont. The Baltimore & Ohio railroad is building two lines of road to points near Fairmont, which will open up virgin fields of coal and timber. It is practically assured that immense railroad shops will soon be built at Fairmont by the Baltimore & Ohio."

Mr. Showalter, besides being a prominent and progressive business man, is a well-known politician. He will probably be a candidate for congress in 1903.

"In all my years of travel," remarked Frank A. Brobst, proprietor of the Hotel Lincoln, "I never experienced such luck as on my vacation last month. Mrs. Brobst and myself arranged an itinerary and decided that we would take in Hot Springs on our route. The trip was uneventful until we were within seven miles of Hot Springs, when our train was wrecked. Mrs. Brobst was badly cut by flying glass, while I did some ground and lofty tumbling that Harry Williams never saw on his stage. The weather was unsettled when we arrived at the Springs. There were rain, snow and sleet all mixed into the day. We had just got comfortably settled when I received a wire that my cousin was dead. This was depressing, but following on its heels was another wire from Pittsburgh that my steward, who had been with me for many years, was also dead. We were preparing to start for Pittsburgh when another telegram announced that the Lincoln was surrounded by water and that the Allegheny river was fast running up to 35 feet. There was no further delay on our part. Mrs. Brobst forgot her injuries and we started for home. At St. Louis we missed the prince by five minutes, and found when we arrived in Pittsburgh coal boats anchored in front of the hotel. The dynamos were seven feet under water and the hotel was in darkness. Our hard luck ended then, and after 24 hours we were booking guests. I think that my next February vacation will be in Beaver county, as conditions for reaching home will be much better."

W. A. Comestock, representing the Cleveland Wire Spring Company, is at Newell's. "We ship our product all over the world, but are behind on our orders," he said. "We have found much difficulty in getting steel from Pittsburgh, as all the plants are behind on orders. We make springs almost as fine as those used in watches, many of them running ten to the ounce and from that up to 75 pounds each. The gauge of wire used runs from as fine as a hair to three-quarters of an inch in diameter."

W. H. Murray of Phoenix, Ariz., was a passenger over the Baltimore & Ohio railroad last night. "Many private companies," he said, "have been formed in Arizona for irrigation purposes and much unclaimed land will soon be garden spots. I understand that our delegates to congress will call attention to the necessity of irrigation in the territory, and that a large appropriation will be asked for."

W. W. Thomas of Los Angeles, Cal., is at the Hotel Lincoln. He is interested in some copper property in the Black Hills, and has come to Pittsburgh to consult with some Pittsburgh capitalists who are interested with him. They have secured 500 square miles in Arizona and will shortly develop it. Mr. Thomas will purchase some machinery before leaving Pittsburgh.

R. Powell of London is at the Anderson. He is a dealer in sporting prints, for which a fad has been started in America. A Toledo firm has received a contract, according to the statement of Mr. Powell, to frame a number of prints for Edward VII.

SOCIETY

LAST night was Princeton night in Pittsburgh. The Avenue theater, closed for so long to fashionable audiences, was thronged with a brilliant gathering of men and women, girls and boys, who greeted with cordial favor the appearance of the Princeton University Triangle club. Never was so brilliant an audience seen in the little playhouse. Princeton banners hung from the boxes, and the orange and black appeared in decorations throughout the auditorium. Gray-haired men, once Princeton boys, occupied the boxes, while the chairs in the orchestra and in the balcony were filled with alumni of the university and their friends, some of the undergraduates and scores of the boys who expect to enter Princeton in the near future. It was an appreciative audience, which responded to every effort made by the entertainers, and the well-known college calls seasoned the performance in true college style.

A number of large theater parties were given last night, the boxes all being occupied. One of them was reserved for the speakers at the Princeton alumni banquet tonight, among whom were the president of the university, Dr. Francis L. Patton, who was the guest of Robert Pitcairn. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Marsh occupied another box, their guests being Mr. and Mrs. James I. Buchanan, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Beatty and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Irvine. A supper was given at the Duquesne club after the opera. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Pew gave another box party, their guests including Miss Alice Davidson, Miss Ethel Pew, Mrs. Earl Marvin, Edward Vaille, Mr. Doolittle of Washington, D. C., and James H. Davidson. Mr. and Mrs. Pew gave a dinner at their home in North Highland avenue before going to the theater. Judge and Mrs. James Hay Reed gave a box party last evening for several of the Princeton men, in the party being Miss Aiken, James H. Reed, Jr., and David Aiken Reed, who returned from Princeton yesterday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. John Updegraff Hussey gave a theater party for several of the younger people of Allegheny, in the party being Miss Alice B. Painter, Miss Martha Dalzell, Miss Margaretta Wood, Miss Edna Johnson, Miss Marguerite Johnson, Miss Eleanor Painter, William B. Turner, Hay Walker and Charles W. Canning. Supper followed the performance, the supper being served at the Duquesne club. Parties of friends occupied blocks of seats throughout the house. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Fisher, Mrs. Fisher's sister, Miss Milligan, and some of their friends occupied adjoining seats. Mrs. Henry Balken's family formed a small party which included several friends, among them Miss Lois Bailey, whose engagement to Mr. and Mrs. Balken's son, Edward Duff Balken, was announced last week. Several school girls and boys, friends of Miss Schultz, were the guests of Mrs. and Mrs. A. L. Schultz of North Highland avenue. Others who entertained were Mr. and Mrs. William M. Hall, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. John G. Jennings, B. Harvey Thompson and B. F. Jones, Jr.

DETAIL SCALE AGREED ON.

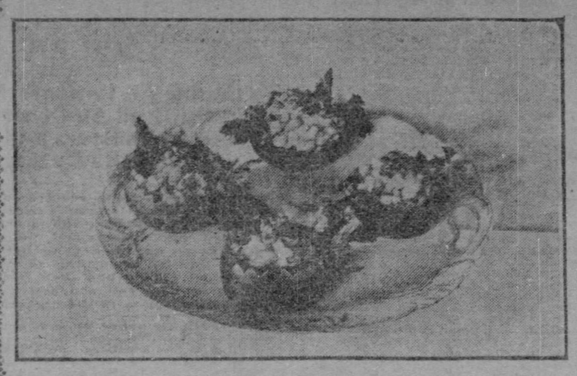
Miners' Committee and Operating Companies' Officials Settled the Matter Last Night.

The Pittsburgh district miners' scale committee and the representatives of the Pittsburgh Coal Company and the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal & Coke Company and other interests operating under the general district scale, yesterday evening reached an agreement on the detail scale to go into effect April 1.

The settlement is a reaffirmation of the existing agreement, with few slight changes of a technical character. None of what were regarded the important issues for change in the district agreement are included.

The district scale makes no provision for the check-off system. As has been stated before in The Gazette, this matter was settled for the Pittsburgh district in connection with the Indianapolis agreement. That settlement provides for the check-off system in plants where 80 per cent of the miners vote for it.

The miners will next arrange the detail scale with the usual differentials for the Beaver valley operations, in which several coal producing concerns are interested. After that the miners' officials expect to adjust the West Penn and Allegheny valley differences without difficulty.



APPLE SALAD.

Select slightly acid and mellow apples for a salad; pare and slice in thin shavings. The celery to be used with the apple should be washed and left to stand an hour in cold water that has been acidulated with a little lemon juice; it will then be white and crisp. Pull off coarse threads and cut into thin slices which will resemble little crescents; this is a better way than to try to cut into dice. Allow equal parts of apple and celery, or one-third apple to two-thirds celery, as preferred, but the former makes a more distinctively apple salad. The dressing may be mayonnaise or a French dressing, but to most tastes the mayonnaise is preferable. Mix the apple and celery, moisten well with the dressing and serve on the inner cup-shaped leaves of lettuce or in cups made from the apples. To form these cups, first cut a generous slice from the top and remove the core by pressing the corer not quite through the apple; remove the inside in thin shavings by turning the end of the corer. Fill with the apple and celery, garnish with celery tips and English walnut meats.

For a mayonnaise dressing mix one level teaspoon each of mustard, powdered sugar and salt and a very little cayenne; stir in two raw egg yolks and a few drops of vinegar. When this is smooth begin to add oil drop by drop and beat; when the dressing becomes too thick thin it with a few drops of vinegar and lemon juice, using them alternately until two tablespoons of each have been used and a pint bottle of oil, which does not measure quite that amount.

PRISCILLA'S PENCIL

Learned something new about the photographs the other day. The old conventional style of photographs has been gradually going out of sight since the advent of the amateur camera, which brought the proper artistic touch to bear on what had been formerly no more than a mere mechanism of light and shade, not to say posture and retouching. Amateur pictures when well taken have always a charm which no professional photograph may boast, and of this several clever professionals, who have risen to moneymaking from amateur beginnings, have taken advantage. These clever ones study the possibilities of the sitter—usually a woman, for the artistic photographer prefers sitters of the feminine gender—and then arrange a scene to suit her possessions. A dainty Allegheny girl whose beauty is of the blue-eyed and dimpled type, brought home a dozen from a visit to Chicago lately which will set the ball going in real earnest in Pittsburgh. One of these shows her bending over a baking table, her shirtwaist sleeves rolled up to her elbows, her curly locks pushed back and her white arms, displayed to splendid advantage, rolling dough for all their muscles worth. Another shows her with a ruffled sunbonnet slipping back from her face and a basket of eggs on one arm; still in another she is standing wrapped in the classic folds of her bath robe, with her hair floating in charming disorder and then come all the others, showing each of her ordinary costumes—street frock, pretty house gown and evening dress. All the accessories of each picture are arranged with exquisite care, and the result is a collection whose interest will not fade while the paper holds together. She has mounted them in a little leather book, and several other Allegheny girls are following her example.

But only pretty girls may try it. Woe betide the ugly damsel who tries the sunbonnet and art pose!

A Bridal Couple—

Of a western city, who stopped with friends in Pittsburgh last week, were entertained by an acquaintance of their hostess at a dinner party during their stay. After the dinner there was some music, and while one guest played Liszt's Second Rhapsody at the piano, the others of the party threw open the windows and enjoyed the mild breezes which spring had sent on in advance. The bridal couple, wishful of seeing something of the balmy night, went out on the balcony where they could hear very well, they said. The rhapsody was finished and another one begun; this one throbbed to silence and a song was contributed, then came a violin solo by the host and still another song—but the couple came not back. Jokingly their host went forth to seek them, and when they saw him they jumped up from the corner seat where they had been sitting and came quickly into the drawing room, the bride exclaiming, "Dear Miss W—, that second rhapsody is so beautiful in your hands! That finale brought me in immediately to thank you, despite the beauty of the night and the hope of hearing more." They were a bridal couple and so were scarcely abashed at the laughter which followed and at the explanation which showed them that they had been dead to all music save that of their own souls, for something more than two hours.

Elena's Silk Dress—

Was destined for Easter, and being the prettiest silk dress which Elena had ever owned, it was a matter of particular pride and hope to her. But fate had an eye on that silk dress, and one day last week, when Elena's elderly aunt went to find some silk to cover an eiderdown quilt which had been soiled, she followed Elena's directions as to the position of the object of her search—and got the wrong package! Elena did not see her until the shining apple blossom lengths had been cut and sewed and even tacked over the quilt—which leaves Elena with no silk dress for Easter, unless she uses the "brown, ugly thing" which she purchased at a bargain sale for the quilt. But her aunt says it is her own fault for not assuring her that the quilt silk was "ever so pretty" and later for not knowing better where she had placed her purchases.

The Baroque Pearls—

Are in high favor just now as engagement jewels. An effort is made to find them as near heartshape as possible. A lovely bracelet given in Pittsburgh last week had two of these heart-shaped pearls fastened together by a fine gold wire.

Sealers Undergo Inspection.

HOUSEKEEPER'S NOTEBOOK.

Maple sugar cake is at its best in Vermont, the home of the maple, but can be made successfully anywhere if pure maple can be obtained. For the layers follow the receipt for coffee cake, which is always satisfactory. To make the filling scrape half a pound of maple sugar into an enameled or porcelain lined saucepan; add half a cupful of milk and stir over the fire until it threads. Take it from the fire and pour, little by little, while hot, into the whites of two eggs which have been beaten to a stiff froth. Whip all together for a few moments, and spread lightly and quickly between the layers of cake. The color should be rather deeper than cream, approaching what is known as a light shade of cafe au lait. The flavor is the delicate woodland one, which only pure maple sugar or syrup can give.

Conclude all massage treatments with a warm water bath, followed by a cooler and then cold, the colder the better, which acts as a tonic and closes the pores, which, of course, is most essential. It is advisable also to apply an astringent lotion, especially in going out or when the skin is to be exposed to the cold air.

The following formula is a simple but good astringent. Rosewater, 3 ounces; elder flower water, 1 ounce; tincture of benzoine, ½ ounce; tannic acid, 5 grains.

An expert in the care of house plants says that the rubber plants need nourishment and advises pouring a tablespoonful of caster oil occasionally into a little trench that should be made around the stalk. Afterward cover with earth. This care will be repaid in increased growth and beauty of the leaves.

BANKERS STAND INDICTED.

Court Refuses to Quash the Bills or Permit Inspection of the Records of the Grand Jury.

NEW YORK, March 7.—(Special.)—Indictments for alleged maladministration of the affairs of the defunct Seventh National bank stand against William K. Kimball, the president; Frank Poor, a director, and G. W. Rose, cashier and paying teller. Motions to quash the indictments or permit counsel for the indicted to examine the minutes of the grand jury which found the indictments were denied by Judge Thomas in the United States district court today. In the case of Rose alone authority is given counsel to inspect the minutes of the grand jury.

It is specified that under the direction of Kimball checks to the order of Henry Marquand & Co. were drawn by Poor for sums in excess of the amount to the credit of the Marquands and certified by Rose. It was contended on behalf of the defendants that they had been called upon to give evidence in connection with the bank's affairs and that such evidence had been illegally used as a basis for the indictments.

STRUCK AN IRON PLATE.

Side of a Car Pushed in and Passengers Frightened.

Car No. 55 of the Atwood street line sidewiped a wagon loaded with heavy iron plates which was standing in front of a new building in Fourth avenue at 5:30 last evening. The car was crowded with people. The motorman ran the car into the corner of a heavy iron plate about six feet square, which projected over the side of the wagon.

The motion of the car whirled the plate around, its edge entering the car for three or four inches. It cut window panes and the frame of the car as if they had been so much paper. The people sitting on the side of the car which was crushed, escaped by taking headers into the crowd with which the aisle of the car was tightly packed. The car was stove in for two window lengths, glass was scattered on the floor and seats, but not a person was hurt.

CURRENT MODES.

The woman of limited purse and who loves pretty things will find this a season of great temptation at least in embroideries.

For the newest are so sheer and delicate in color that they hardly seem intended for wear.

But as they cannot be any more perishable than tulle or maline, which the fashionable maid and matron have been reveling in for the past season or two, we may be prepared by late spring to see the smartest evening frocks adorned with this delicate embroidery.

The insets of silk embroidery, which come in black and white as well as the pompadour colors, are appliqued on the sheerest of chiffon.

The silk all-overs, which are intended for blouses, vests and yokes, have the embroidery appliqued on taffeta. This, while not as light and airy looking as the chiffon, is very effective and will make lovely blouses.

For those who cling to lace or net for trimming there are the most exquisite of net insertings appliqued with tiny pink blue and green beads, which carries out the idea of the pompadour colors on a white or cream surface.

Another touch of the season is the appliquing of narrow white Irish lace edgings on Russian net in deep ecru. Many of the smartest collars and boleros will be made of this. These will be extremely modish worn over frocks of blue and black foulards and crepe de chines.

The Spectators Hooted Rough Hockey Play Last Night

FINAL HOCKEY GAME WAS WON BY P. A. C. TEAM

Defeated Bankers in a Game That Was Very Much One Sided.

PLAYERS WERE HOOTED

Spectators Refused to Stand for Any Rough House Tactics — Bankers' Goal Tender Made a Sorry Showing—Howard Put Up Star Play.

Hockey Standing.

	Won.	Lost.	Per Ct.
Keystone	9	5	.643
P. A. C.	8	6	.572
Bankers	4	10	.286

The schedule of the Western Pennsylvania Hockey league was brought to a close last night with the record score of the season, the fast P. A. C. skaters defeating the Bankers by 11 goals to 1.

There was a far more important factor than the play of the Red and White artists, fast as it was, in the building of the score last night, however, and that was the unpardonably sloppy team play of the losers and especially the weakness of Edwards at goal. It is a pity, for the sake of the public and the reputation of the last game of the season, that a skater was put in who was entirely out of practice and who made little semblance of attempting to stop the puck.

Was Very One-Sided.

It was decidedly the most one-sided game of the season, one-sided in point of score and one-sided in the balance of play. While the P. A. C. skaters worked together, as they have in but few contests of the season, the Bankers were ranker than it could be imagined one of the Western Pennsylvania teams could be. Henderson played one of his very best games at point and deserves full credit for sticking to his game up to the very last minute in spite of the yellow form of some of the team.

Howard also played well, as he can always be counted on to do, but after the score started to mount up it was only too evident that his heart was not in the game. Taylor did not seem up to his usual form and the wretched farce which the Bankers made of any attempt at combination work or passing left Howard unaided in any attempt to score. He tried several times to work his way through the whole P. A. C. team and finally in the second half won the most enthusiastic applause of the evening for the prettiest play of the game.

Howard's Pretty Play.

Getting the puck from a scrimmage at the side of the rink he managed to get through a field of the Red and White skaters, but slipped to his knees amid the "ohs" of the crowd just as he had a clear field for a long shot from a none too easy angle. His effort to score while still down succeeded, to the surprise of all and the Bankers had at least one goal to comfort them.

Though the game was mild compared to the one on Tuesday night there was some rough play, especially at the start. The crowd was one of the most critical of the season in its judgment of the play. There was no excuse to say last night that the spectators appreciated the bloody style of game, for there were hoots and hisses for every player who was careless enough for detection in his use of the stick for a rib roaster and cries of "Put him off," "Put him off" were frequent.

Johnny Hall, the referee, benched the players right and left and was able to control the character of play much better than in the former game. The crowd was a most partial one and for some reason, probably the big lead the P. A. C. skaters obtained, roasted the latter at every turn and cheered the Bankers. The lineup and score:

P. A. C.—12.		Bankers—1.
Lamb	Goal	Edwards
Hamilton	Point	Henderson
Curtis	Cover Point	Phymister
Pepper	Center	Campbell
Robinson	Forward	Taylor
Shields	Left Wing	Howard
Smith	Right Wing	Hill

KISKI'S TEAM BEATEN.

High School Five Scored a Great Basket-ball Victory.

Yesterday afternoon at High school chapel the High school basketball team defeated the Riskiminetas school team by a score of 50 to 13. The first half was bitterly contested and ended 13 to 7 in High school's favor. The last half was the fastest seen on the floor, and High school smothered the Kiski boys, making 37 points to their six. The chapel was filled with rooters and the excitement ran high. The whole High school team played well, Nickel was everywhere, shooting four goals from the field and four from foul. Steen was also exceptionally accurate in goal shooting. The quick passing and general team work was what won for High school. Porterfield and Springer did well for Kiski. This game leaves the series between the schools a tie, though it will not be possible to play it off this season. High school may play East Liberty academy their postponed game next week at High school. Line-up and score:

High School—50.		Kiski—13.
Orr	L. F.	Ramage
McCrory	R. F.	Porterfield
Nickel	C.	Springer
Morgan	L. G.	McLane
Steen	R. G.	McClintock

Field goals—Orr 2, McCrory 2, Nickel 4, Morgan, Steen 4, Porterfield 3. Foul goals—Nickel 5, Springer 1. Referee—Mr. Louis Seibel, East Liberty. Scorer—Mr. Weiler, High school. Mr. Spoonhauser, Kiski. Scorer—Mr. Masse. Time—Two 20-minute halves.

SINNIRUD FIXES AN INDOOR RECORD

"FLYING SWEDE" SKATED A MILE IN 2:47 FLAT AT THE GARDEN.

Verona Lake Amateur Was Paced by His Teammate Woods and Clarence Preston—Within One-Fifth Second of Nilsson's World's Record.

Peter Sinnirud, the amateur champion speed skater of the United States, lowered the amateur record for the Duquesne garden rink last night and came within one-fifth of a second of equaling the mark fixed by World's Champion John Nilsson on his recent visit here.

Sinnirud was paced during the first half of his performance by his team-mate, Woods, and during the last half by Clarence Preston of this city, and went the mile of almost nine laps in the time of 2:47 flat. The former local indoor record set by Leroy See was 2:57 2-5, while the world's indoor record established by Nilsson was but 2:46 4-5. The latter was not paced, however. Sinnirud's mark is, therefore, the fastest mile ever skated indoors by an amateur.

HONUS WAS A STAR.

The Big Pirate Surprised the Crowd by His Basketball Ability.

Hose company No. 3, or the All-professional basketball team, as they are now called, last night defeated the Columbia A. C. team of Pittsburg by a score of 20 to 15. It was the prettiest and fastest game of basketball ever played on the Carnegie floor, and the feature of the game was the sensational playing of Honus Wagner, who threw four goals from field. Wagner surprised his 200 admirers at the game last night by his fine dribbling, and won their cheers time and again. Al Wagner, brother of Honus, was in the game and aided the team materially, while Phillips, the whole team for the Columbia aggregation, and his work was gilt-edged. The game was marked by unusual clean playing and at the same time the pace set by the Carnegie lads was of a very swift nature. The team work of Carnegie had a great deal to do with their victory. The line-up:

All-Professionals—20. Columbia A. C.—13.

H. Wagner	R. F.	Amie
Arehart	L. F.	Trautman
Frye	C.	Clayton
Flaherty	L. G.	McDonald
Al Wagner	R. G.	Glasser

Goals from field—Honus Wagner 4; Arehart 3; Frye 2; Flaherty 1; Trautman 1; and Clayton 4. Goals from foul—Clayton 3. Referee—Marthens. Timekeeper and scorer—Turney.

WATCHING THE CONTEST.

Pittsburghers Deeply Interested in a Hockey Game in New York Tonight.

Though there is no hockey game in Pittsburgh tonight, there will take place in New York a contest which is being watched with the utmost interest by local enthusiasts, as it may have an effect upon the Hockey club of New York as the seven which will play the Keystones of Pittsburgh for the championship of the United States.

Each team in New York has eight games to play during the season. The Hockey club has won six and lost one and the Crescents won five and lost two. So if the Hockey club wins it will have the Metropolitan championship cinched, while the Crescents by tallying the larger score will tie with the present leaders. Pittsburgh rooters are a unit for the Hockey club, many of the local players having friends on that team.

Pittsburgh hockey talent is fast being recognized at its true worth, and they are coming from the end of the earth after us. Tonight the P. A. C. team leaves for Houghton, Mich., where games will be played on Monday and Tuesday. Houghton is 500 miles north of Chicago, and though but two games will be played, the team will not be back until Friday.

GENEVA TEAM BEATEN.

Grove City Won and Students Had a Bonfire.

GROVE CITY, PA., March 7.—(Special.)—The Geneva Basketball team was walloped here tonight by a score of 26 to 34. The visitors were outplayed and they resorted to rough playing, but they could not overcome Grove City's lead. The playing of Campbell, DeFrance, White, Leach and George was the feature. The line-up:

Grove City—34.		Geneva—26.
Locke	R. F.	Brown
White	L. F.	Patterson
DeFrance	C.	George
Clinger	R. G.	Martin
Campbell	L. F.	Leach

Goals from field—Locke 1, White 4, DeFrance 2, Campbell 4, Patterson 2, George 2, Leach 2, East 2, Edgar 1. Goals from foul—Thompson 2, Campbell. Substitutions—East for Martin, Thompson for Brown, East for George, Edgar for East, Marshall for DeFrance and Jenkinson for White. Referee—Smith of Westminster. Time—Two 20-minute halves. The students of the town are celebrating the victory with a parade and bonfire.

HARPER HAS JUMPED.

Donovan's Mainstay Will Join the American.

OIL CITY, PA., March 7.—(Special.)—All existing doubts as to Pitcher "Jack" Harper having left the National league were removed today when he received notice from the St. Louis American league team to report there March 24 for a two weeks' preliminary practice trip.

Earlier Date for Meet.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., March 7.—Yale athletic leaders, it is understood, will fix an earlier date for the inter-scholastic meet. It has been decided to write to the University of California offering either May 10 or 17 for the meet between Yale and California.

MAY MEET SOONER THAN NEXT FALL

CORBETT AND M'GOVERN BOTH ANXIOUS FOR THE FIGHT.

Terry Danced With Joy When He Learned Another Match Had Been Made—Will Get Into the Finest Condition for the Battle.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, O., March 7.—It may be that Terry McGovern and Young Corbett will come together in the roped arena before next fall. The men have signed articles to meet not later than October 15, but McGovern thinks that the match should be pulled off much sooner, and will make an effort to get Corbett in the ring before the hot weather sets in.

Sam Harris, McGovern's manager, arrived in the city yesterday from French Lick Springs, Ind. Mr. Harris said that he was willing to let Corbett set the date, but sees no reason why the fight should be put off till fall.

Terry Is Very Anxious.

McGovern is so very anxious to meet Corbett again that he will take him on within the next month or so, but it is hardly likely that Corbett would even think of such a thing. Harris insists that McGovern has more right to fight Corbett than any other man, and as long as the Denver boy is out looking for a fight he should give Terry the first chance.

That McGovern is craving for another meeting with Corbett was evidenced when Terry heard that Corbett had signed articles to meet him in a return match. The little Brooklyn fighter was at home in bed when a messenger boy rang the door bell and aroused Terry from his slumbers. He was handed a message, which read: "You are matched to meet Corbett again on October 15." Terry dashed for his vest, which was hanging near, and gave the messenger boy a $10 bill. He then let out a yell that was loud enough to awaken the neighbors, and put in several hours doing a jig step around the room. Terry did not sleep the rest of the night, and the next day he spent all his time telling his friends in Brooklyn the good news. McGovern was so elated that he wired Manager Harris to arrange the fight to come off within three weeks if possible. It was the best piece of news Terry had received since he started in the fighting game. He considers it the most important match of his career, and can hardly wait for it to come off.

Will Be in Fine Shape.

The Derby night date at the Southern Athletic club, Louisville, is still open to McGovern. The management of the club yesterday wired Sam Harris to try and arrange things so Terry could accept. Harris replied that Terry's theatrical engagements would not run out until April, and that Terry, in justice to himself and the public, did not care to go in the ring without the proper time to train. Harris is willing to let the club select Terry's opponent. He does not bar any of the good men. Speaking of his future plans Harris said:

"McGovern has his mind set on fighting Corbett, and will make any reasonable concessions to get the match off as soon as possible. The rest of Terry's engagements are in doubt. He may fight others besides Corbett, and then again he may not. I cannot say for a week or two yet just what he will do."

QUAKER TEAMS WON.

The Championship Emblem Goes to Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, March 7.—As a result of today's play in the semi-final matches of the championship racquet tournament, the silver racquet will be brought to this city for the first time since the trophy was posted as the permanent emblem of the national championship, as the two teams which will compete in the finals tomorrow represent Philadelphia.

The opening match of today's play between Newbold Etting and George McFadden, of the local club, and Charles Winslow and Howard Russell, the second team of the Boston A. A. of Boston, Mass., was won by the Philadelphians in straight games.

The other match was between George H. Brooks and H. David of the Philadelphia Racquet club and Clarence Mackay and Lawrence Waterbury of the New York Racquet club, in which the home players achieved a notable victory. Seven games were necessary to decide the contest and it was anybody's match up to the last ball of the game.

The last mentioned game will have to be replayed.

In the afternoon session Tschigorin defeated Pillsbury. There are now four drawn games on the list to be replayed tomorrow.

NEW YORK, March 7.—All the preparations for the seventh annual cable chess match between America and Great Britain, which is to take place on Friday and Saturday of next week, have been made. The teams have been selected on both sides, the referee and umpires have been chosen and the rules and regulations to govern the match have been agreed upon. The Brooklyn chess club will again be responsible for playing the match at this end and the British chess club will carry out the arrangements at London.

The teams which are to do duty on this occasion are as follows:

America: Pillsbury, Showalter, Barry, Hodges, Hymes, Marshall, Bampton, Newmann, Voight and Howell; umpire at London, L. Hoffer.

Baron de Rothschild has again consented to act as referee.

Whether or not the teams will play as selected is, however, not settled as yet, as Pillsbury, Marshall and Mason are still engaged in the international tourney at Monte Carlo and it cannot be said at present when this tournament will be completed and whether the three men mentioned will be able to reach London in time for the match.

This was followed by a shot at targets, blue rocks, 25 birds, in which Kaiser and Brant tied with 22 birds, and divided the money.

ABOUT CATARRH CURES.

The Reason Why Inhalers and Local Applications are Useless.

For many years catarrh was considered to be a local disease and was treated entirely by local remedies, salves, ointments, powders, sprays and inhalers, and nearly all of these gave a temporary relief, but a genuine permanent cure was very rare.

It is true the most annoying symptoms, like stoppage of the nose and throat trouble, are purely local, but they are simply symptoms and the real cause of disease is far removed.

Catarrh is a constitutional disease, a blood disorder, complicated usually with disease of the liver, and to suppose that local applications of sprays, powders, inhalers, could ever reach the real cause of the trouble is ridiculous.

The sensible and successful treatment is to remove the catarrhal poison from the system by regulating the liver and purifying the blood, and this can only be done by an internal remedy, which should consist of antiseptics and remedies to act vigorously on the blood and liver.

The best preparation of this kind which fills all the requirements of a safe constitutional treatment is Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, composed of Blood Root, Red Gum, and similar wholesome antiseptics, which are absolutely safe to take into the stomach and which act upon the liver, stomach and mucuous membrane.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are large, pleasant-tasting lozenges to be slowly dissolved in the mouth, thus reaching the mucous membrane and windpipe and finally reaching the stomach.

Dr. Edmondson in speaking of the new treatment for catarrh says: "I have accomplished the most satisfactory results in all forms of catarrh of the head, throat, bronchial tubes, as well as catarrh of the stomach and liver by using nothing else but Stuart's Catarrh Tablets. I long since threw aside sprays and inhalers as being inconvenient, and at the best mere temporary makeshifts.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets act immediately upon the liver and blood and clear the whole system of catarrhal poison. They are pleasant and very convenient to use, and they are not only the latest, but I believe them to be the best and certainly the safest treatment for any form of catarrh."

R·I·P·A·N·S

I suffered for five years with indigestion and the doctors failed to help me. After I would eat a meal I would almost die with the agony. I began to get so thin that I thought I was getting the consumption. I could not do my own household duties. I heard of Ripans Tabules and made up my mind to try them. The first box I had gave so much relief I continued on until I found they were helping me wonderfully. I can eat most anything now.

COUNCIL AGAIN TIES TRACTION ORDINANCES UP

One Street on the South Side Was Given Away Under Persuasion.

TWO MEASURES DEFEATED

Special Meeting of the Common Branch Did Not Develop the Expected Excitement, Only One Tilt Enlivening Routine of Business.

Common council refused again yesterday to pass two of the street franchise ordinances asked for in behalf of the Pittsburgh Railways Company. One measure was finally urged through, but the others failed for the want of a legal majority.

The defeat of these ordinances at Monday's meeting drew a great crowd to city hall yesterday, but the meeting did not develop the expected excitement. Only once was there any prospect of equally weather. That was when Charles S. Crawford tried to read a resolution. President Max G. Leslie promptly ruled against him and was sustained. Mr. Crawford contented himself, however, with making pointed use of Recorder Brown's declaration in favor of payment for franchises. It is supposed that this declaration was the subject matter of the resolution.

The hour for the meeting came and passed without a quorum being present.

Leslie Counted Faces.

It was not until after 3 o'clock that President Leslie by an actual count of familiar faces discovered that the organization had a full representation and that a quorum was present.

The intense interest taken in the ordinance by the machine was plainly shown by the number of leaders that gathered about the corridors. It has been many a day since such another gathering has been seen in the hall. Among the powers were County Delinquent Tax Collector Samuel P. Conner, County Treasurer Thomas G. McClure, Deputy County Register Arch Mackrell, County Chairman Andrew C. Robertson, Former City Solicitor Clarence Burleigh, Director George W. Wilson, Director J. Guy McCandless, Director A. H. Leslie and many lesser lights.

The three ordinances of the Pittsburgh Railways Company grant the right to lay tracks on certain streets to be used as loops in connecting the various lines.

Resolution Ruled Out.

The first one read grants the Duquesne Street Railway the right to occupy and cross certain streets. Charles S. Crawford interrupted the reading and asked permission to offer a resolution in regard to the ordinances. It was ruled out on the ground that it could not be entertained, but that remarks could be made.

Mr. Crawford asked unanimous consent to present the resolution, but this was refused by some one member, name unknown, who voted no. The resolution was not made public, but it is understood that it was a recital of the statements as to compensation for city franchises made in the letter of Recorder J. O. Brown to the traction company officials.

The roll was ordered on final passage of this ordinance and it failed as it did last Monday for want of a legal majority, the vote being ayes 21, noes 13. The announcement of the vote was received with applause from the crowded lobby.

How the Members Voted.

The vote was as follows: Ayes—Anderson, Armstrong, Cavett, Donly, Douthett, Dubarry, Jones, Kohne, Moore, Rusch, Swarzwelder, Semmelrock, Sheehan, Sparr, Spiane, Stockdale, Stonerod, Vaux, Wellenger, Zollinger, 21; noes—Beckert, Crawford, Charles S., Delaney, Dieterle, Hogue, Hughes, Jack, Lank, McLain, McNeil, Walls, Wightman, Zenger, 13.

On this vote, as on the others, a representative of the Pittsburgh Railways Company kept tally.

The next ordinance granted rights of way to the West End Railway Company. This also failed to pass by a vote of 22 ayes to 12 noes, John Hogue of the Thirty-fourth ward, who had voted against the first ordinance, voting for the ordinance.

The ordinance granting the Southern Railway Company the right to lay 200 feet of track in South Twenty-second street, at Sidney street, to make a loop and connect the Birmingham and Suburban lines, was passed by a vote of 26 to 9. Dieterle, McLain, Walls, Zollinger and Leslie voted aye.

Armstrong Makes a Plea.

Previous to the vote, Joseph G. Armstrong, Twenty-third ward, urged the passage of the ordinance as an accommodation to the people of the South Side. He said that they were heartily in favor of it, as it would give them much better service.

C. S. Crawford of the Twentieth ward opposed it on the ground that it was not a question of accommodation just now, but one of dollars and cents to the city, as was conceded by Recorder J. O. Brown in his letter to the officials of the Pittsburgh Railways Company.

He said that he would be the last man to vote against anything that would be productive of good to the citizens, but that he would be the last man also to vote to give valuable franchises for nothing.

Upon motion of Joseph G. Armstrong, the Pittsburgh and Allegheny telephone ordinance was called up for reconsideration.

Increased the Number.

The original ordinance called for 18 telephones. The ordinance that failed to pass called for 36. Mr. Armstrong proposed to amend this, making the number 70 instead of 36. After a brisk debate the amendment was carried.

An ordinance for the employment of a stenographer at a salary of $1,200 and an additional clerk for the city clerk's office was passed by a vote of 32 to 3. C. S. Crawford demanded a roll-call on the motion to suspend the rules and place the bill on second and third reading for final passage, but the ordinances were adopted by a vote of 34 to 3. There was also opposition to the employment of another city solicitor at a salary of $2,500, and the ordinance failed to pass for want of a legal majority, a standing vote resulting in 21 to 16 in favor of it. A batch of street and sewer ordinances recommended by the committee on public works were passed finally, as were ordinances authorizing the letting of contracts for the purchase of equipment for the bureau of highways and sewers.

On call of wards President Leslie presented an ordinance fixing the salaries of the employes in the office of the city treasurer. It provides for a chief clerk at $2,400, a cashier at $2,000, three clerks at $1,400 each, one clerk at $1,200, one messenger at $900, a watchman at $750, and not more than 25 temporary clerks during the tax collection season at $100 per month each. It was referred to the committee on finance.

The ordinances for the repaving of certain streets and the building of boardwalks and sters were passed finally.

GROUND BROKEN FOR NEW PLANT

BRADLEY MANUFACTURING COMPANY WILL SOON BE OPERATING.

Buildings for Production of Engines Now Made Only in England Will Be Located in Pennsylvania Avenue, Allegheny. One Hundred Men to Be Employed.

The Bradley Manufacturing Company, formed by a number of Pittsburghers, with Daniel O'Day of New York of the National Transit Company and E. C. Lufkin of Buffalo, manager of the Snow steam boiler works and also of the Holly Manufacturing Company, associated as shareholders and directors, has broken ground for a model engine plant in Allegheny. The works will be in operation within three months and will produce the famous Willans central valve engines, now made only in England. The patent rights in them for the western hemisphere have been purchased by the Pittsburgh company.

Contracts for the erection of the buildings in Pennsylvania avenue, between Grant and Allegheny avenues, Allegheny, have been placed with C. H. Bradley, Jr., & Co., contractors and engineers. Most of the contracts for equipment of the plant have been placed. The new company will start operations with contracts calling for delivery over a period of four months.

The main building will be 380x35 feet. Adjoining, will be a pattern store house, a power house and office building, all of brick and fireproof construction. A modern electric power plant will be installed and the entire works will contain all modern conveniences, electric traveling cranes and other electric power appliances. Each machine will be driven by a separate electric motor.

The new company has purchased from Willans & Robinson of Rugby, England, the rights to manufacture here and supply the market of North and South America with the patented Willans central valve engines, already introduced here and in great favor for electric light plants, office buildings and other purposes. These engines of high grade and high speed will be manufactured of from 100 to 3,000 horse power each.

The Bradley Manufacturing Company has a capital investment of $200,000. At its initial operations it will employ 100 men and more later on. The organization of the company is as follows: D. G. Geary of the Geary Water Tube Boiler Company, Oil City, president; C. H. Bradley, Jr., of Pittsburgh, vice president and general manager; J. H. Bailey, who has been associated with Mr. Bradley, secretary and treasurer. These officers, along with Daniel O'Day and E. C. Lufkin, constitute the board of directors.

MEADVILLE'S CLAIMS.

Representative Bates Tells House Committee Why the Town Should Have Federal Building.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 7.—(Special.)—Representative Bates today appeared before the house committee on public buildings and grounds and submitted strong arguments in favor of his bill to give Meadville a $50,000 public building. Mr. Bates showed that the government is now paying for rent for the Meadville postoffice building a sum more than equal to 3 per cent interest on a $50,000 building, and that the quarters thus secured are inadequate. He argued that as the government could borrow money at 2 per cent, it would be wise to erect a building in Meadville and thus save the rent. He described the rapid growth and the extent of the postal business of the town.

Representative Jack has recommended the appointment of Samuel G. Taylor as postmaster at Knoxdale, Jefferson county, Pa.

Representative Dalzell will recommend the reappointment of George Holliday as postmaster of Pittsburgh, whose term expires March 29.

Postmasters were appointed today as follows: Ohio—Layland, Coshocton county, E. E. Teeling. West Virginia—Eby, Taylor county, Marshall Wolfe; Glady, Randolph county, W. M. Flint; Scrafford, Monongalia county, L. C. Brand.

The senate today confirmed these nominations of Pennsylvania postmasters: Clark Collins, Connellsville; J. C. Brown, Bloomsburg.

MINNESOTA IS STILL AGAINST THE COMBINE

Every Effort Is Being Made by the State Government to Bring Case to Trial.

THE LEGISLATURE ACTS

A Resolution Was Passed Calling Upon Congress to Amend the Judicial Acts So That Suit Can Be Brought in the Federal Courts.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., March 7.—Attorney General Douglas has appealed to congress in the Northern Securities case. With the backing of the Minnesota legislature and the Minneapolis delegation in both branches at Washington, he hopes for an amendment to the judicial acts, which will change the position in which Minneapolis is now placed.

The decision in the Northern Securities case shuts out the state completely from redress in the federal courts. The court lays down the rule that a state cannot sue a citizen of another state when citizens of plaintiff state are necessary parties.

Attorney General Douglas has recognized the far-reaching effect of this decision and has called the attention of Gov. Van Sant to it in a letter. This was transmitted to the legislature. The senate received it late yesterday afternoon, and at the same time Senator Wilson presented a resolution drawn by the attorney general. It was passed immediately.

The attorney general's letter was read before the house today, but the resolution did not make its appearance until later, when it was brought in from the senate. The house concurred by a viva voce vote. Attorney General Douglas has written two members of the Minnesota delegation in congress, Senator Nelson and Representative Stevens. He has asked them individually to look after the matter and it is probable that they will introduce a bill in both branches, amending the judiciary act as the attorney general suggests.

OPPOSED TO CUBAN RELIEF.

Foes of the Reciprocity Plan Confer and Claim a Majority Against Ways and Means Scheme.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 7.—About 35 Republican representatives opposed to the ways and means plan of Cuban reciprocity, held a private meeting at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the committee room of William Alden Smith. It was not intended to assemble the full strength of the opposition, but rather to have reports from each state delegation. The standing of members from the several states was fully canvassed, and later it was asserted that this canvass showed a majority could be mustered against the ways and means proposition.

The meeting did not, however, go into the various opposition plans. It was said that as between the Tawney rebate plan and the postponement plan, the latter is gaining strength. Mr. Tawney showed no desire to insist upon his plan, and said it had served to develop the sentiment for postponing any action.

The meeting led to an understanding that there would be no effort to force a vote next Tuesday night, the element opposing the committee plan expressing a willingness to have full discussion.

THE FINEST EMBASSY.

In Washington It Will Be the Italian if Signor Mayor's Government Approves Purchase.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 7.—(Special.)—That its mission here may be in keeping with the dignity of its position among nations, the Italian government has purchased for its embassy the mansion of Mrs. Phoebe Hearst. The negotiations have been conducted by Signor Mayor des Planches, the Italian ambassador, but the approval of the Italian ministry, and the necessary appropriation by the Italian chamber of deputies are necessary to complete the deal. The price agreed upon is $150,000. It will be the finest embassy in Washington.

Baron Fava, Signor Mayor's predecessor, was sharply criticised for his failure to maintain an embassy here. He made his headquarters at a hotel in New York, and when he came to Washington, either went to a boarding house or occupied chambers in a house adjoining the Metropolitan club.

COMMITTEES APPOINTED.

Recorder Brown Has Named Five Business Men to Consult With Philadelphia Co. Officials.

J. O. Brown, city recorder, in compliance with the request of the Philadelphia Company and the Pittsburgh Railways Company for the appointment of a committee to consider the problem of relieving the congested street car traffic, has appointed Reuben Miller, H. C. Frick, A. J. Logan, William McConway and J. R. Mellon.

Each man has been consulted in the matter and has agreed to serve. Mr. Miller will act as chairman of the committee. They will co-operate with the officers of the two companies in compliance with the requests of the latter in a letter to Recorder Brown on February 24, in which they asked for the appointment of a committee to consider the question of relief through the medium of elevated or underground railways or the present system.

STICK TO IT

Until Coffee Hits You Hard.

It is about as well to advise people to stick to coffee until they get hit hard enough so that they will never forget their experience, although it is rather unpleasant to have to look back to a half-dozen years of invalidism, money and opportunity thrown away, which is really the terrible price paid for the weakest kind of a "mess of pottage."

A woman writes, and her letter is condensed to give the facts in a short space. "I was a coffee slave and stuck to it like a toper to his 'cupa,' notwithstanding I had headaches every day, and frequently severe attacks of sick headaches, then I used more coffee to relieve the headaches, and this was well enough until the coffee stimulant wore off, then I would have sick spells. Finally my digestion was ruined, severe attacks of rheumatism began to appear, and ultimately the whole nervous system began to break down and I was fast becoming a wreck.

"At this time I was induced to quit coffee and take up Postum Food Coffee. This was half a year ago. The result has been most satisfactory. The rheumatism is gone entirely, blood is pure, nerves practically well and steady, digestion almost perfect, never have any more sick headaches and am gaining steadily in weight and strength." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

always indicate a weak heart. They are usually preceeded or followed by palpitation or fluttering, and there may be pain in left side, a smothering sensation and shortness of breath. Such a heart should be treated at once, before the disease develops beyond control. Heart disease is as easily cured as other troubles if taken in time.

"I was subject to fainting spells, and many times I have fallen on the street. I was often compelled to sit down while walking to avoid falling. When physicians failed to help me, I took Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and was completely cured."

MEETINGS AND REVIVALS WERE THE FEATURES

Week Just Closing Was of Much Interest in Religious Circles.

STRANGERS WILL PREACH

Many Pulpits of the Two Cities Will Be Occupied Tomorrow by Out-of-Town Men, Among Them President F. L. Patton, of Princeton.

The past week in religious circles was marked by numerous meetings and revivals. The Rev. Father J. O. S. Huntington has conducted successful noonday services in Trinity church on topics pertaining to the faith. He will preach tomorrow in St. Mary's chapel and in the Church of the Ascension in the evening. A special musical program will be rendered in East Liberty church. Dr. David R. Breed is to preach. Among the selections to be sung are Gounod's "Send Out Thy Light," a chorus with soprano obligato, Newmann's "Lead, Kindly Light" by a quartet and Morris' "Galilee."

The Rev. E. E. Haskins of Johnstown will fill the pulpit of the First Brethren church, Fifteenth and Dearborn streets, at both morning and evening services. The new Slavish Catholic church at Duquesne will be opened for worship tomorrow morning for the first time. The dedication of this church will not take place until after Lent. It cost $10,000.

A notable event in religious circles next week will be the reunion and banquet of the Presbyterian union at the Schenley hotel. Dr. Francis L. Patton of Princeton university will deliver an address on "Conscience in Civic Life." There are now 200 members in the union.

STRIKING PAINTERS REAFFIRM DEMANDS

Sub-Contractors Working Under Masters Doing Important Work Cannot Sign Scale.

Hundreds of the striking painters in a mass meeting last night at their hall, 416 Wood street, reaffirmed their demands. The meeting empowered the strike leaders to refuse signed scales granting the advance by anyone who may be acting as a sub-contractor to those having important work, and unwilling to sign the agreement.

Strike leaders declared after the meeting that members of the associated master painters have said that they will meet the scale next week if a general settlement has not been reached meantime.

Contracts granting the advanced wages signed by 24 master painters of this district were presented at the meeting. It was explained that more than 40 have signed, but that some of the agreements are in possession of members of the committee of 12, which has not yet reported at headquarters.

Contracts with the following master painters were shown at strike headquarters: John R. Nelson & Company of Chicago, contractors at the Hotel Henry and the People's Savings bank; T. Sadonski, George D. Milligan & Company, having the wall work in the Frick building and the painting contract at Union station; John F. Shupert, John W. Tate, H. C. Van Armour, Matthew Brothers, having the woodwork contract for the Frick building; Kirk & Nelligan, W. H. Hoffman, J. C. Dale, doing the Keystone bank building work; Leake & Greene, Spencer & Auman, John C. Herbert, Dravo Contracting Company, the Joseph Horne Co., C. M. Sturdy, ... W. Metzkes, H. Michaelyan & Company, Donagey & Alberle, E. P. Casey, Green & Shindel, H. Houser, Wilson & Company, J. Snider.

It was asserted by the strike leaders that agreements already made keep at work 500 of the members of the three crafts out of the 1,800 organized.

BIG BOND ISSUE REPORTED.

Unconfirmed Rumor That the United States Steel Corporation Will Make Conversion of Preferred Stock.

NEW YORK, March 7.—Leading interests in the United States Steel Corporation say that reports of a proposed conversion of the preferred stock into bonds are premature. According to report it is not unlikely that it may be deemed advisable to issue bonds to the extent of $250,000,000 without any disturbance of the present preferred stock issue.

Reports from the west telling of the probable resignation of Elbert H. Gary from the chairmanship of the Steel Corporation's executive committee, are discredited.

WILL TAKE A FINAL VOTE.

Bridge and Structural Iron Workers to Determine Wage Scale.

The Pittsburgh organization of the Bridge and Structural Iron Workers union will hold a mass meeting at No. 510 Wylie avenue, Sunday afternoon, to take action in reference to the last proposition of the American Bridge Company for the wage scale agreement to rule from May 1. The workers had demanded a wage of $4 a day of eight hours at Chicago, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and New York.

Representatives of the bridge company offered 45 cents an hour for Pittsburgh on a nine-hour basis, it being contended that the demand of the workers was too radical, and that the rush of work here demands that a nine-hour day be observed.

The mass meeting Sunday will take a final vote on the last proposition for the bridge company, which was made at a meeting in Philadelphia last month of the general officers of the workers' union, and executives of the American Bridge Company. There are over 2,000 members of the union in Pittsburgh and vicinity.

Fatal Accident at Fernandina.

FERNANDINA, FLA., March 7.—The boiler of Oaks' sawmill, in this city exploded today, killing three negroes and slightly injuring Gordon Hall, the manager. The mill and contents were destroyed by fire.

ABSOLUTE PEACE IN PHILIPPINES IN TWO YEARS

That Is the Confident Prediction of Gov. Taft, Who Knows the Game.

WHAT FINANCIERS THINK

J. Pierpont Morgan Says That There Is No Doubt of Prosperity as Soon as Our Government Fixes Upon a Staple Form of Government.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, O., March 7.—"In 18 months, or two years at most, matters will have progressed so far in the establishment of a permanent government in the Philippines that the commission which has been in the islands for the past two years in the interests of the United States may be relieved of the work they have been pursuing."

Thus spoke Gov. William H. Taft, head of the Philippine commission, who has come from Washington to Cincinnati to spend several weeks before returning to the east to complete the work that was largely responsible for his return to the United States.

Peace Is Assured.

"We hope to have things running sufficiently smooth by the beginning of 1904 to allow the islands to be governed as are any of the other territories of the United States. I have every reason to believe that congress will take speedy action on the governmental and tariff bills, which concern the Philippines, and that a form of government for the islands, together with the desired tariff legislation, will be put into force at a very early period.

"During the time I was in the east I received many inquiries in regard to the Philippines from men who had, or claimed to have, large financial interests. There is no doubt that as soon as congress shall fix a form of government and tariff matters shall be settled there will be a large influx of American capital into the islands.

What Morgan Says.

"This can but have a beneficial result on conditions there. The way the big financiers regard the Philippines is perhaps best illustrated by a statement made to me by Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan, who assured me that, with a government established, the Philippine island bonds could be sold in New York without any guarantee from the United States."

Referring to the stories that have been circulated from time to time as to his taking a place in the cabinet of President Roosevelt, Gov. Taft said: "You cannot make a denial of that report too strong. I have but one desire—to return to the Philippines to assist in the completion of the work that the commission has undertaken. President Roosevelt has expressed the same desire, and no circumstances over which I have control can keep me from that work."

THE WORK OF CONGRESS.

House Will End Free Delivery Debate Monday—Anti-Anarchy Measure in Good Position.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 7.—The bill to classify the rural free delivery service and to place the carriers under the contract system, held the floor in the house today. By amicable arrangement, general debate will be concluded tomorrow and the bill will be considered under the five minute rule Monday.

On account of the indisposition of Mr. Vest of Missouri and Mr. Mallory of Florida, who expected to speak today on the pending ship subsidy bill, that measure was not considered by the senate today. The diplomatic and consular appropriation bill was passed, and then the senate took up the measure for the protection of the president of the United States. Mr. Bacon of Georgia, continued his speech begun yesterday in opposition to the bill. The senate agreed to make the bill the unfinished business at the conclusion of consideration of the ship-subsidy measure.

TO EDUCATE SOUTHERNERS.

Prominent Men Banded Together in Effort to Promote Learning Among the Negroes.

NEW YORK, March 7.—Announcement was made today that there had been organized in this city an association to promote southern education to be known as the general education board, and that more than a million dollars had been placed at the disposal of the board of trustees.

The board of trustees is as follows: W. H. Baldwin, Jr., president of the Long Island Railroad Company; Dr. J. L. M. Curry, executive officer of the Peabody and Slater funds, former minister to Spain and ex-member of congress; F. T. Gates, formerly secretary of the National Educational society; Dr. Daniel C. Gilman, formerly president Johns Hopkins university, now president Carnegie institute, Washington; Morris K. Jesup, trustee and treasurer of the Slater board; Robert C. Ogden, president of the board of trustees of Hampton institute and president of the southern education board; Walter H. Page, George Foster Peabody and Albert Shaw.

HARRISBURG, PA., March 7.—General orders issued from headquarters of the National Guard place upon the retired list Second Lieutenant Peter Stringer, Company B, Sixth regiment; Maj. Thomas S. Martin, aid on Maj. Gen. Miller's staff, and Second Lieutenant George L. McClelland, late of Company B, Tenth regiment.

Orders also announce the following appointments in the medical department: Maj. Alfred C. Wood, surgeon Third regiment; First Lieutenant John C. Hirst, assistant surgeon Third regiment; First Lieutenant John L. Brubaker, assistant surgeon; Sheridan Troop; First Lieutenant Edwin A. Nicodemus, assistant surgeon Governor's Troop.

READ WILL ARRIVE SUNDAY.

Army Officer, With His Parents and Attorney, on His Way Home Now.

Capt. James C. Read, who has been imprisoned on a sentence of a general court martial composed of regular army officers in the Philippines, and later transferred to the military prison at Leavenworth, will arrive in Pittsburgh Sunday morning. He is accompanied by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Read, and Attorney Joseph A. McDonald.

A peculiar feature of the trial of Capt. Read developed in Pittsburgh after his trial and sentence in the Philippines. An enlisted soldier of the Eighteenth infantry, raised the question of the legality of the sentence, as the court was composed of regular officers, and the accused was a volunteer officer.

He called attention to the army regulations, and stated at the time that an attorney versed in military law would get the release of the accused. His statement was laughed at in the armories, and the gossips had considerable fun over it. The private was right, as has since been demonstrated, but like another private, who called Napoleon's attention to a certain plain of battle, he has disappeared from sight.

Boilermakers Still Out.

CLEVELAND, O., March 7.—The demands of the striking boilermakers in this city for a uniform scale of $3.75 for a nine-hour day, have been granted in a number of shops. Nearly 500 men are, however, still out.

ACTRESS MADE A STAR BY

HYPNOTISM

Under the Strange Spell She Carried the Audience by Storm—Famous in a Night.

Dr. John D. Quackenbos, professor in Columbia University, New York, astonished his associates of the Medico-Legal Society the other night by telling them how a young actress bounded into fame in a single night under the hypnotic spell. It is the case of a Trilby in real life; not the trick of a charlatan, but a sober, actual accomplishment of latter-day science. The new Trilby is a favorite with theater-goers. Her first appearance on the stage was made at a New York theater, when, under the hypnotic spell, she carried the audience by storm; she was called before the curtain again and again—at a bound she was famous. The press of the city united in applauding her splendid work. This is only one of the many marvels of this wonderful power. The American College of Sciences of Philadelphia has recently issued a new book by twenty eminent hypnotic specialists which is being distributed free throughout the country for the purpose of educating and protecting the public. It is one of the most weird and fascinating works ever written. It is richly illustrated with the finest engravings, and its vivid descriptions of the practical uses and possibilities of this marvelous mind-power fill one with awe and amazement. Among the many intensely interesting subjects treated are: How to hypnotize instantaneously; how to influence a person secretly without his knowledge; how to develop Personal Magnetism and use it in business, society, etc.; power of the human will; how to cure the most obstinate diseases and bad habits by magnetic forces without drugs or medicines; how to make people like you; how to win in business, in society, in love; anyone can develop personal magnetism; rules which will absolutely develop this power within a short time; the transmission of thought; the development of soul power; how to make a business man listen to you when he would send anyone else away; how to sell a man goods when he does not want to buy; a legitimate way to double your salary; how to keep people from influencing you; hundreds secretly influenced and controlled in body and mind without their knowledge; how to implant a suggestion or command in a subject's mind that he will carry out a week, month or a year hence, just as the hypnotist may wish; how to hypnotize by mail or by telephone; how to develop within yourself that inward power, that force of character, which instantly gives you a control over people without saying a word or making a single gesture. For the benefit of the public we wish to state that if you will write the American College of Sciences, Dept. 188M., 420 Walnut street, Philadelphia, Pa., a copy of the above book will be sent to you by mail absolutely free of charge. The college guarantees this offer to be absolutely genuine, with no conditions attached. It is proposed to give away several thousands of copies of the book so that the public may learn the wonderful secrets of this marvelous but much misunderstood science.

SHARON MEN TO ELECTRIFY THE PHILIPPINES

Company of Pennsylvanians and New Yorkers to Cover the Islands.

POWER, LIGHT AND CARS

Roberts' Resignation Leads to False Rumor That Gary Will Quit—Combine Said to Be Dissatisfied With American Bridge Company.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, March 7.—A syndicate of American capitalists has been formed to "electrify" the Philippines. Unless present plans miscarry these interests will lay out millions of dollars to instal electric light and power plants and traction lines in the principal cities and towns of the Philippine islands.

Preliminary steps have been taken in the organization of the Manila Electric Company, which has just been incorporated with a capital of $125,000. This capitalization, of course, is only nominal and will be increased as the plans of the syndicate take form. The incorporators are Frank H. Buhl, Sharon, Pa.; Porter L. Kimberly, Sharon, Pa.; Martin B. de Long, Utica, N. Y.; Juan M. Ceballo, New York; Frederick F. Culver, New York; Granville Whitley, New York; George F. Holmes, New York; Burlingame Johnson, Denver, and Oscar L. Gubelman, Jersey City.

Personnel of the Incorporators.

Frank H. Buhl is well known in the iron and steel region of western Pennsylvania, where he made his millions. He founded the Sharon Steel Company, of which he was president till but a short time ago, and he is still a heavy stockholder. The Sharon iron works, which he operated for many years, is now a constituent plant of one of the large combines.

Porter L. Kimberly also is a well-known former iron manufacturer of Pehnsylvania. He operated the Kimberly mill, which was abolished by the American Steel Hoop Company, and he also amassed considerable wealth through his interest in the iron ore mines of the Lake Superior district. It is said his profits on the sale of the properties in the past few years have been more than $4,000,000.

Juan M. Ceballo has been a conspicuous figure for many years in the export trade.

Frank F. Culver is a member of the law firm of Clarke & Culver.

Not Telling Their Plans.

The charter of the Manila Electric Company is very liberal, authorizing the concern to engage in the manufacture of electric appliances and the use of electricity in all its branches.

Interests identified with the project were seen today and were indisposed to give out any information as to the scope of their project. They said it would be perhaps a month before they would be in a position to make a statement. They admitted, however, that the field of operations would be the entire Philippines.

Rumor of Gary's Resignation.

The report received in Wall street today from Chicago that Judge E. H. Gary is likely to resign, or had resigned, as chairman of the executive committee of the United States Steel Corporation was unheeded in financial circles, for the reason that similar reports usually as unwarranted as this have been circulated; but at this rumor the combine seemed to be considerably annoyed. Richard Trimble, secretary of the United States Steel Corporation, said the report is entirely and absolutely without foundation, and equally emphatic denials were made by other officials. Judge Gary himself is in the west.

It is believed the report was inspired by the resignation of Percival Roberts, Jr., from the executive committee. If this was the origin of the Chicago story the report of Judge Gary's retirement is inexcusable, for the reason that Mr. Gary all along has upheld the policy of President Schwab, and these executives are working in harmony for the best interests of the combine.

Failed to Satisfy Committee.

One of the latter declared today that regular dividends have been paid into the treasury of the United States Steel Corporation by the American Bridge Company. The public statements of the combine do not give individual earnings, and therefore no outsider can say whether or not the American Bridge Company has earned its dividends. But no secret is made of the fact that this is the only one of the constituent companies that has failed to satisfy the executive committee of the steel corporation. On this point the officers of the combine are very reticent and refuse to indicate what further changes are to be made; but it is regarded as reasonably certain that the American Bridge Company will get a thorough going over.

Affects American Bridge Company.

The ease with which such reports are being circulated is notorious. Ordinarily they are ignored by the ones concerned. The annoyance of United States Steel officials at the circulation of this report probably arises from the fact that certain other changes in the management of the American Bridge Company are contemplated.

It was understood early in the week that the retirement of Mr. Roberts would be followed by no other changes in the management of this constituent company; but it became more and more apparent that a virtual reorganization of the American Bridge Company will be necessary in order to bring it up to the combine's standard. Reports that the company has failed to earn its dividend are strongly denied by officials of the combine, as well as by officials of the bridge company.

Something Doing in Electrics.

The recent strength of Westinghouse Electric and General Electric shares in the stock market have given rise to fresh rumors of forthcoming gratuities. Westinghouse Electric advanced five points more in the first hour today, and General Electric again crossed 300 on talk of scrip dividend.

The executive committee of the General Electric met today, but took no action on the dividend. It is expected that the directors will meet in a few days for that purpose.

Officials of the Westinghouse Company positively deny the rumors of a scrip dividend. The old rumors of a consolidation of these two companies are again current and get color from the recent advance in the stock of both. Speculative interest in such high-priced issues necessarily is very small, and it is difficult, therefore, to account for the recent buying on any other ground than that insiders have advanced information of developments.

England Buying More Iron.

LONDON, March 7.—The board of trade returns show that the imports of unwrought iron from the United States during the month of January increased in value $250,000 over the imports of January.

News From the Mines

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, March 7.—Last week the Highland Boy Company at Bingham, Utah, shipped 44 tons of ore which assayed 41.4 per cent lead, 1.35 per cent copper, 9.55 ounces silver and a little gold. The roads are in bad condition and during this month there will be very little hauling by small shippers.

The California, at Park City, Utah, has been closed down because the management does not feel justified in running further into debt in its efforts to make a mine of the property.

Advices from White Pine, Nev., say the copper flat has broken into ore by a crosscut 12 feet on the 300-foot level. It is now demonstrated that the ore body is 750 feet wide.

Several new producers report in the Susanville district, Ore., this spring. The Chatanooga on Elk creek, has struck ore rich in gold, copper and silver at a depth of 80 feet. Strikes are reported in other sections of Grant county and all the camps are inviting a spring boom.

A large force of men has been at work this winter on the Adler creek placers in Montana and a Little Giant will be turned up on the 20-foot bench this month. This property is owned mainly by Minnesota capitalists.

Last week's shipments from the Boundary district, Canada, were by mines: 5,774 tons: Mother Lode, 3,338 tons; Snowshoe, 300 tons; Winnipeg, 35 tons, and Golden Crown, 30 tons. The Greenwood smelter treated 1,455 tons of ore.

The first Excelsior, in the Mount Baker country, Wash., is showing up well under development. Work has begun on a new 150-foot tunnel and an electric plant will be installed soon.

Nelson, B. C., reports that the Arlington has a carload of sacked ore ready for shipment. That will net over $5,000. Others shipped 50 tons of ordinary grade last week. Pittsburgh men have placed $45,000 in bank to cover the option they hold on the Ottawa. In the face of the ledge, 30 feet wide, there is an 18-inch streak of fine shipping ore.

A correspondent at Ashcroft, B. C., advises caution in dealing with the Horsefly placers, on which glowing reports were made six months ago. Fine gold undoubtedly has been found in the district, he says, but it is impossible to determine the quantity at present. It will be necessary to develop yet before fully authenticated reports can be obtained.

The Metal Market.

A firm holding of spot tin resulted in the marking up of prices about ¾c today, so that spot closed at $26 37½ to $26 45, and 10 tons sold at $26 35. The London market closed 10 shillings higher, with spot at £116 and futures at £111 10s. Copper was steady but quiet and unchanged at New York. Lake quoted at 12⅝@12½c, electrolytic at 12⅛@12¾c and casting at 12@12⅜c. At London there was a gain of 15s, with spot and futures closed at £54 15s. Lead was unchanged at £11 10s. Spelter dull and 2½ points lower at $4 22½@4 27½. The London market was 2s 6d lower at £17 15s. Iron at New York ruled quiet and nominal. Pig iron warrants were quoted about at $11 50@12 50: No. 1 foundry, northern, $18 50@19 50; No. 2 foundry, southern, $18 00@19 00; No. 1 foundry, southern, $17 50@18 00; No. 1 foundry, southern, soft, $17 50@18 00. The English markets were a shade lower. Glasgow closed at 53s 4d and Middlesboro at 47s.

Many Charged With Robbery

ROBBERY CASES HAD THE CALL IN CRIMINAL COURT

A Number of Alleged Highwaymen Were Tried on Serious Charges.

WOMEN SAW A HOLD UP

Case Against Robert and William Gray and B. M. Coffey Took All Day—William Clark Found Guilty of Robbing a Homestead Man.

The case against Robert and William Gray and B. M. Coffey for robbery was on trial in criminal court. It occupied the entire day and when court adjourned the jury was out.

The defendants are charged with holding up and robbing Francsio Tombady of a watch and $50 at the corner of Second avenue and Cherry alley on February 27. They are defended by Attorney Rody F. Marshall with District Attorney John Haymaker conducting the side of the commonwealth.

Several women living on Second avenue testified that on the night of February 27 they saw three men attempting to rob a fourth man and that they identified two of them as "Bob" Gray and Coffey.

The prosecutor testified that the men attacked him and that he tore one of their coats in the struggle. When Coffey was arrested the coat he wore was badly torn and was exhibited in court as evidence. Several policemen testified that they had seen the defendants in that locality a great deal during the past two years.

The defendants testified that they had been in that locality on the night of the robbery but denied the charge. Coffey said he had been attacked by the prosecutor that night, the latter calling upon him to give him the money he stole from him. He said that it was at this time his coat was torn.

William Clark was found guilty of robbing Tim Mahoney of Homestead of a watch and chain on February 6. The prosecutor said that the defendant approached him in a saloon claiming he was a member of the same railroad brotherhood and exhibited a pin of that order. He said the defendant asked him to point out where a certain man lived and they started for the place. On the way down Seventh avenue, Homestead, he said Clark struck him on the head, snatched his watch and ran away.

The jury in the case against Roger Feeney, tried for the alleged robbery of $40 from Andrew A. Logue, failed to agree after being out all night and were discharged. An attempt was made to prove Feeney was an old-time criminal and that he had been in prison a number of years. This was admitted by Feaney. He said he had been sent to the penitentiary for five years but was pardoned on account of circumstantial evidence.

Harvey Wallace was found guilty of the larceny of $50 from Fred Valentine and sentenced to the workhouse for one year. The defense admitted that the money was found on the defendant when arrested, but he claimed it was his own money. The prosecution proved he had been out of work for some time.

GRAND JURY ADJOURNS.

District Attorney Says Mrs. Soffel's Case Will Be Considered Next Thursday.

The grand jury adjourned yesterday until next Thursday on account of the lack of business, which action is an indication that the March term of criminal court will be a short one. The indictments against Mrs. Kate Soffel have been in readiness for several days, but for reasons best known to the district attorney and lawyers who are interested, they have not been given to that body for consideration.

District Attorney John C. Haymaker said yesterday that the cases will be considered next Thursday. This means that should true bills be returned, Mrs. Soffel, should her lawyer prefer to have her case go to a jury, will not be tried until after the license court is held.

The principal reason for bringing the grand jury back is that the petitions for the improvements of parts of 10 county roads may be considered. These improvements will be made as a result of the issue of $550,000 worth of bonds.

The following bills were returned by the grand jury yesterday:

True bills, embezzlement, Arthur Ameisen, F. W. Foltz, Ralph C. Gibbs, Bruce Ross; false pretense, Charles T. Hetzel; larceny, W. R. Connors, Frank Gold, Mary Minor, Matthew Shelton, John Talbot, Harry White, Ross Wilhide; larceny from the person, James Famine; horse stealing, Robert Allison; entering a building, etc., John Hubert, John McClafferty; assault and battery, Fred Williams; aggravated assault and battery, James Lack and Percy Clark; felonous assault and battery, Edward Claypool, James Lucci, Prince White; misdemeanor, C. A. Brooks, C. T. Bown, Clyde Burkley, Peter Francisous, Harry Brensser, William Gilmore, W. C. Keys, Karl E. Richabaugh, Julius Stevens, James Thompson, George H. Pfusch, Elias Ziegler, Fred Williams; pointing firearms, James Cummings; carrying concealed weapons, H. C. Moore, H. Timblich, Bert Williams; fraudulently voting, R. H. Triplett.

Ignored bills, larceny by bailee, Fred Levine.

WANTS AN ACCOUNTING.

Plaintiff Contends Much Money Is Due from a Partnership.

A bill in equity was filed by Horace G. Gallinger against James L. Marshall to obtain an accounting of the real estate firm of Henry A. Weaver & Co. It is alleged the defendant and plaintiff formed the partnership under that name on June 14, 1897.

It is contended that no settlement has been made since October 1, 1898, and that the defendant has had full charge of the assets, books and accounts of the firm since its inception. It is said the defendant has never disclosed to the plaintiff the condition of the business or accounted for the profits, which the plaintiff says are large, and that he is entitled to a large sum of money. The plaintiff says he has made a demand for an accounting, but the defendant refused it.

Makes a Big Bid.

Arguments were heard in the United States circuit court in the case of R. D. Gibson against the Standard Automatic Gas Engine Company and others, in which a receiver is asked. In the bill insolvency is charged, also that some of the directors are guilty of conspiracy. For the plaintiffs it was contended that the affairs of the company should be wound up by a receiver. J. B. Smithson, the president, stated he would bid $57,000 for the business, which is greater than the value of the assets.

Michael Luzze entered suit against Frank Torchia, the Italian banker, to recover $300. The plaintiff says that from time to time he deposited this sum with the defendant that he lost his bank book and that the defendant refused to pay him the amount of his deposit. It is stated that Torchia claims he has none of the plaintiff's money.

Uneasy Condition Marks the Stock Market

SPECULATORS UNEASY ABOUT CASH RESERVES

The Withdrawal of One Large Shipment Has Mild Effect for the Better.

TIMIDITY STILL EXISTS

The Forecast of the Bank Statement for Today Showed Sufficient Grounds for Apprehension of the Rate of Depletion of Reserves.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, March 7.—The stock market today showed evidence of conflicting emotions on the part of the professional speculators, who make up the present market. There was something of a struggle during the early part of the day to keep prices moving upward, and a number of specialties shot up in the way which has become so familiar of late. Others which were violent advanced yesterday and showed a tendency to an abrupt relapse. The general active list took on its recently somnolent condition, suggesting that the demand from the short interests, which caused yesterday's sharp rise, had been satisfied.

Still Afraid of Coin Reserve.

The notice that $1,000,000 of the gold engaged for tomorrow's steamer had been withdrawn from export had a mild stimulating effect on the market, but the later forecast of tomorrow's bank statement showed sufficient grounds for apprehension still remaining of the rate of depletion of the New York bank reserves. The report that the government had filed its suit against the Northern Securities Company, with the United States court at St. Paul, also caused a ripple of alarm, although it had been abundantly foreseen and presented no new phase in the case. The preliminary figures of money movement for the week indicate that the banks have lost cash to the extent of nearly $5,000,000, including the gold exported on Thursday, but not including the $2,300,000 which is to go on tomorrow's steamer.

Surplus Now Nominal.

It is argued that Thursday's gold exports, coming late in the week, will not figure for their full effect in the bank statement under the average system, but the same thing was true of last week's statement, leaving the residue of last week's cash losses to be carried over into this week. The apprehension is therefore that the small surplus may be wiped out. With its present dimensions of the deposit and cash items of the New York banks, the surplus at its present figure is almost wholly nominal anyway, and a variation of a few millions has little effect on the proportion of the reserve. The hardening tendency of the money market is a convincing evidence, however, that the banks are not anxious at present to extend their credits.

Colorado Fuel Down.

On the day's special movements, Colorado Fuel was most conspicuous with a feverish reaction which reached 6 points at one time. Chicago & Northwestern, after a rise of 1¼, also turned downward and fell at one time 3½ under last night. On the side of advances S. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha added four points to its price and the preferred three. The use of over three points in Evansville & Terre Haute was in response to yesterday's rise in Chicago & Eastern Illinois. Westinghouse Electric advanced 5¼, Brooklyn Union 3½, American Cotton Oil 4⅜ and Virginia-Carolina Chemical 2⅜, the last two on reports of intended consolidation.

Obscure Stocks Advanced.

There was besides a long list of obscure stocks with 1 to 2 point advances to their credit, all of which were more or less impaired by the late reaction. The market closed rather easy in spite of a late rise in Colorado & Southern and Mexican National.

Today's bond market continued rather dull, but was firm. Total sales, par value, $2,750,000.

United States 2s, coupon, and the old 4s advanced ¼, and the new 4s, coupon, ½ per cent on the last call.

Local Stock Market More Active and With Better Feeling

WESTINGHOUSE ELECTRIC AND PHILADELPHIA

Those Were Leading Stocks in the Local Market Yesterday.

STEEL AND COAL TRADING

Most Active Securities Were Higher Than Day Before—Sharp Breaks in United Realty—Wire Service Generally Restored.

Yesterday's market was the most active and interesting the Pittsburgh stock exchange has had for some days. During the early hours a strong buying movement in Westinghouse Electric set in as the stock was advancing sharply in New York. On this wave the second preferred sold up to 92, though there was an easing off later.

When the flurry in Electric had about spent itself Philadelphia Company came to the front for a number of good-sized transactions and it finally passed Electric seconds in the aggregate of sales, going above 1,500 shares.

The coal stocks were traded in quite freely near the middle of the day, but the aggregate was below that of the previous day. There was also some movement in the steel favorites, United States and Crucible, coincident with that in the coals. These four made up about one-fourth of the total market.

United Realty Trust recorded a sharp decline, the only one of much consequence during the day. Real Estate Trust was strong again at 280 with that price bid for good lots at the close. Allegheny Trust also figured in the proceedings.

The bond section continued to attract attention, and several good blocks changed hands. The sales of bonds reached $25,000 and of scrip $940. There was good bidding for more than was offered.

The resumption of effective wire service had an undoubted influence upon the character of the market, increasing the volume and spirit of the trading. It was the first day for more than a week not interfered with by storm or flood. With the exception of Electric seconds and Philadelphia Company the fluctuations were very narrow, but in those two there was opportunity for a neat turn by room traders. There appears to be good buying locally for investment of some of the steel and coal preferred stocks and some others regarded as particularly good.

Pittsburgh Plate Glass gave no sign that the announcement of competition had affected it in the least. The management of that property has been ultra-conservative and it is probable may have completely discounted any possible competition.

WEATHER MADE A BAD WEEK FOR IRON AND STEEL

Floods in Pittsburgh District Added to Pressure by Closing Plants.

RAILROADS IN TROUBLE

Recent Destruction by the Elements Makes an Unusual Demand for Structural Material and a Large Premium Is Gladly Paid.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, March 7.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade tomorrow will say:

Unsettled weather was the most unsatisfactory feature of the business situation. A sudden thaw following an exceptionally heavy snowfall produced freshets and floods. Manufacturing and transporting interests suffered severely, and consumers were urgent for shipment of delayed goods, while great quantities of merchandise became stalled in transit. Preparations for an enormous spring trade continue undiminished. There is still some uneasiness regarding the labor situation at the coal mines, and at Fall River there is disagreement as to the length of a cut of cloth, although increased wages are assured.

Floods Did Much Damage.

Not only is there no improvement to be recorded in the iron and steel outlook, but floods in the Pittsburgh region added to the pressure by completely closing many plants and damaging much costly machinery. Supplies of coke failed to increase because the railways were badly disorganized, and the net result was a week of light output when requirements were notably heavy. Recent destruction by the elements makes an unusual demand for structural material and on spot business buyers gladly pay premiums of 50 a ton above list prices. The situation has become so abnormal that it is impossible to gauge the market by ordinary standards or secure quotations of any value for comparative purposes.

Some Encouragement Still.

The encouraging feature is that despite present exorbitant prices the speculative element is not prominent, and orders are accepted for distant delivery with no effort at inflation. Coal shipments have been curtailed to such an extent that dealers' supplies are low and quotations very strong.

Nothing new has developed in the footwear industry. Eastern shops are still working on old contracts, but buyers are deriving the placing of fall business in expectation of securing more satisfactory terms. Shipments have fallen below the figures for the same week last year, but since January 1 there still appears a good increase over 1901.

Leather Is Weaker.

Leather is weaker and hides declined another fraction. Cotton goods are well sustained, the stronger raw material giving all the advantage to sellers, but there is much uncertainty as to the labor situation. This tends to make the mills conservative regarding the acceptance of contracts for future delivery. Less activity is reported in the market for woolens, buyers having apparently completed their first round of orders.

All staples steadied and some rose sharply, the net changes for the week amounting to a considerable advance. It was natural for grain to hold firm when wheat receipts at the west were 2,899,344 bushels, compared with 3,747,952 last year, while arrivals of corn were but 2,001,914 bushels, against 5,920,438 a year ago.

Wheat Exports Large.

Exports of wheat, flour included, were 4,174,804 bushels, against 3,185,032 in the previous week and 3,715,930 a year ago. Even corn went out more freely, Atlantic exports exceeding 10 per cent of the movement a year ago, or 371,904 bushels, against 3,557,438. Speculation was quiet, with many guesses as to the coming report of farm reserves. For the first time in this crop season cotton showed an advance over the price at the corresponding date last year, and it is significant that the higher figure failed to attract heavy selling at the south. Visible supply statistics of coffee were calculated to depress the market, but there was a recovery, which may be attributed to gloomy cables from Brazil regarding the outlook for the new crop.

Failures for the week numbered 176 in the United States, against 208 last year, and 17 in Canada, against 26 last year.

PENNSYLVANIA MAN GOES TO BALTIMORE & OHIO

S. P. HUTCHINSON TAKES PITTSBURGH DIVISION

Started as Rodman. Is 41 Years Old and Has Held Important Positions.

S. P. Hutchinson, who recently became second vice president and general manager of the El Paso & Southwestern railroad, with offices at New York, has been appointed to succeed Thomas J. English as superintendent of the Pittsburgh division of the Baltimore & Ohio. Mr. Hutchinson is expected to arrive in the city Monday and will take active charge of his work soon after. The sudden resignation of Mr. English was told in yesterday's Gazette.

The new supeintendent has had abundance of experience and served for many years on the Pennsylvania railroad. He was born April 27, 1861, at Philadelphia, so that he is now nearly 41 years of age. He was educated at the University of Pennsylvania, and at the age of 20 years entered the service of the Pennsylvania railroad as rodman on an engineer corps. He rose through the stages of rodman, assistant engineer and assistant supervisor to supervisor. From January 5, 1894, until January 1, 1899, he was assistant engineer of the Philadelphia division; from January 1, 1899, to April 1, 1900, superintendent of the Lewistown division; from April 1, 1900, until a few months ago, assistant general agent of the Pennsylvania at New York. Recently he was made second vice president and general manager of the El Paso & Southwestern, a small line in the southwest. This he leaves to come to Pittsburgh.

F. A. MILLER,
General Passenger Agent, Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul.

RAILROAD NOTES.

General Superintendent W. R. Woodford of the Baltimore & Ohio denies that the Baltimore & Ohio has acquired land at South New Castle for improvements.

R. H. Wallace, who has recently been promoted from general agent of the Erie at Cleveland, to assistant general passenger agent at Chicago, is receiving many congratulations from his Pittsburgh friends.

Russell Harding, vice president and general manager of the Missouri Pacific, is found to have a one-fifth interest in the Toledo Terminal & Railway Company, which for months Gould representatives denied was a Gould project.

A frame full of fine scenes in Olympia park on the Baltimore & Ohio near Versailles, to be opened this spring, is on exhibition in the city ticket office of the road. Traveling Passenger Agent George Orr of the Pittsburgh & Western lines, is adding daily to the bookings for this park.

Imporial Meeting Called.

The call for the meeting of the Central Passenger association in Chicago next week names a number of important subjects for consideration. Among them will be the effect of the recent Ohio court decision upon passenger fares, the excursion fares asked for by western lines to points on the New England coast to offset the western travel from the east, rates for students at Easter, for the convention of the Dunkards at Harrisburg, and for the convention of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Tin and Steel Workers at Wheeling.

Conference with Men Ending.

This week is to be the final one in the conference between the Baltimore & Ohio officials and the members of the various brotherhoods among the trainmen of the system. The conference has been in progress for about a month, and several of the problems that have arisen have been hard ones to settle. While there has been little probability of a failure to reach an agreement on any question of great importance, the men have been much interested in the proceedings and the end of the conference is awaitd with much concern.

SWELL BROCHURE FOR THE WABASH OPENING

F. H. Tristram Preparing an Elaborate Souvenir of the Opening of New Offices.

The Wabash is preparing for the opening of its fine passenger and freight offices on the first floor of the former Gazette building, No. 320 Fifth avenue, one of the swellest brochures ever made for a like occasion. The little folder has 12 pages and is bound in heavy paper with one cover lapping over. It is profusely illustrated. The illustrations in the book are all in half-tone. They show the great cantilever bridges being built for the Wabash across the Monongahela in the heart of the city and across the Ohio river at Mingo Junction, O.; the office building of the road in the city; the views in steel mills, foundries and glass works; a view of the downtown portion of the city and the junction of the rivers from Duquesne Heights and a map of the whole Gould system comprising 15,000 miles of road. The book has been prepared by Assistant General Passenger Agent Fred H. Tristram.

Work is progressing with less than the expected rapidity on the new offices, and it is not expected that they will be ready for occupancy before March 20 at the earliest. The brochures will be here for distribution at the opening.

One Hour's Ride to Youngstown.

Pittsburgh to Youngstown in one hour is the purpose of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie. The distance is 67 miles, and two of the present daily trains make the distance in an hour and 30 minutes, with half a dozen stops scheduled. The one-hour schedule for the distance will be possible, it is said, when the new four-track system of the road between the two cities is in operation, leaving the passenger tracks entirely clear of freight trains and allowing faster running. As several stops will be necessary for even the fastest trains, on account of the important towns passed through, the speed between stops will need to average not less than 75 miles an hour. This speed has been attained repeatedly by Lake Erie trains on short runs, and under the new conditions established by the additional tracks the one-hour run does not seem to be impossible.

Connecticut Woman Found Charred to a Crisp With No Evidence of Fire Near.

WINSTED, CONN., March 7.—Coroner Higgins is investigating a mysterious death which occurred in Barkhamstead early this morning. Neighbors entering the house of Mrs. James M. Howard this afternoon discovered the body of Mrs. Howard burned to a crisp, hanging over a potato bin in the cellar.

A search failed to reveal a lamp or any other article which would have set fire to her clothing and the woodwork upon which the body was hanging was not burned. Mrs. Howard's husband was away at work at the supposed time of the burning.

NAVAL HEROES WHOSE NAMES ARE REMEMBERED

America's Galaxy Rank With the Very Highest in History.

NELSON'S FINE MEMORIAL

Trafalgar Square and the Monument One of the Sights of London. Teachers Who Tour Europe Will Find It Worth Attention.

The American who is familiar with the achievements of John Paul Jones, Lawrence, Perry, Farragut, Dewey and Schley is more or less prone to fall into the belief that this matchless country has some sort of monopoly on naval glory. The student of history knows better. America has its share of intrepid and wonderfully clever naval commanders, but there are others whose works have been more fittingly recognized. Naval history would be less brilliant than it is without the names of Admiral Lord Nelson and the great Lord Hawke.

The genius of Nelson appeared in his order when approaching the combined French and Spanish fleets under Villeneuve that "if signals cannot be seen or clearly understood, no captain can do wrong if he places his ship alongside the enemy." In the same spirit Hawke met the French at Quiberon bay, and it may be added that Farragut's defiance of the torpedoes at Mobile was merely an advance upon the heroism of the illustrious English sailors named.

Honors for Nelson.

None of these great commanders have been so publicly honored as Nelson. His brother was created an earl and voted an income; his sisters were given an estate. His body was laid in St. Paul's and to his memory was reared the column in Trafalgar square, London, surmounted by a colossal statue of the hero. That monument is one of the sights of the great city, standing in the square named for the terrible battle in which the admiral lost his life, enclosed on three sides by massive granite walls.

The school teachers who tour Europe under the guidance of The Pittsburgh Gazette and The Chronicle Telegraph will certainly find Trafalgar and Nelson monument worth more than a moment's attention.

Rules of Voting Contest.

Ballots must be filled out with full name of teacher, school where employed, town and county; those of each series must be sent in before midnight of the 15th and last day of each month. The party will be composed of 25 teachers; 12 from Pittsburgh, and Allegheny; six, Allegheny county outside of the cities; seven from outside of Allegheny county. All expenses will be borne by The Pittsburgh Gazette and Chronicle Telegraph and each member of the party will receive $50 in cash. The tour will occupy more than six weeks and cover the most interesting portions of England, Scotland, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Switzerland and France. Contest closes May 31. Ballot is printed on second page each issue and attention is directed to conditions printed thereon.

NEW FORT CHRISTENED.

President Roosevelt Decides to Perpetuate the Name of One of Iowa's First Military Posts.

OMAHA, NEB., March 7.—In accordance with orders received at the headquarters of the department of the Missouri, the new fort at Des Moines will be known as "Fort Des Moines," so perpetuate that name.

The christening is made at the direction of President Roosevelt who says it is for the purpose of perpetuating the name of the original military post established May 20, 1843, at the junction of the Des Moines and Raccoon rivers, by Capt. James Allen's company of the First dragoons, and Capt. J. R. B. Gardiner's company of the First infantry, around which grew the settlement of which the city of Des Moines is the development.

To Form a Central Union.

CLEVELAND, O., March 7.—As the result of a decision reached at today's session of the convention of delegates representing all classes of labor, more than one hundred labor unions in this city will be united into one great organization to be known as the United Trade and Labor council. A large building will be erected by the organization to be used exclusively as a labor temple.

"* * * If an instrument of the harpsichord tone could have been invented with the PERFECT POWER of EXPRESSION of the CROWN PIANO, the hammer-clavier, i. e., modern piano, would NEVER have been developed. * * * It has remained for the CROWN PIANO to overcome the weakness of the Clavichord and perfect the character of the Harpsichord * * * the virtues of the Clavichord and Harpsichord being resuscitated in glorified form in the CROWN; it is the only PIANO which properly interprets the old classical music."
